The Kelowna Daily Courier

Vol. 62 No. 76 Kelowna, British Columbia, Saturday, October 30, 1965 16 Pages 10¢ per copy

THESE HALLOWE'EN KIDS THINK OF OTHERS

Among the children who will knock on city doors tonight, many will be carrying yellow and black UNICEF boxes. Glenmore Brownies, Kelowna Guides, Land Rangers, Okanagan Mission Cubs and many other volunteer children will "trick or treat" for children in underdeveloped countries. They are part of 400,000 children across Canada taking part in the Halloween collection. Pennies collected tonight will provide clothing for eye infections in children in Korea, powdered milk for children in Algeria and equipment to train nurses aides in Ghana, among other programs. Kathy McFadden (left), 11, of 1075 Willow Crescent, and Brenda Newton, 12, of 1830 Willow Crescent, try on their costumes, and get their UNICEF boxes all ready for children in underdeveloped countries. ### Viet Cong's 'Wave' Beaten SAIGON (CP)—U.S. marines, using pistols and fighting hand-to-hand from their tents, beat off a "human wave" assault by the Viet Cong in the early-morning darkness today 10 miles southwest of Da Nang. A U.S. military spokesman said 56 Viet Cong, many of whom were teenagers, were killed. He described casualties among the 500 marines as moderate. One marine squad, however, was badly mauled. Two of its 14 men were killed and the rest wounded, the spokesman said. The Associated Press reported a 13-year-old boy was among the Viet Cong dead at Da Nang. It quoted marines as saying he had been selling soft drinks to Americans in the area and they found drawings of key U.S. installations on his body. A U.S. spokesman said the first wave of Viet Cong carrying meat hooks. They charged the defenses, throwing grenades and dropping to the ground just before reaching them. As they fell riflemen charged over them and began mounting the defenses.

Train Robbers' Pal Captured

(Reuters)—Robert E. Anderson, who escaped from a top-security London prison when a gang "sprung" train robber Donald Biggs in July, was recaptured here today. Biggs, one of 12 men convicted for the $7,300,000 "great train robbery" in August, 1963, is still missing, as is Charles Wilson, who escaped earlier from another prison. Both were serving 30-year sentences. One of the three prisoners who escaped with Biggs when a gang threw rope ladders over the prison wall from a truck parked outside, is also still missing. Anderson was serving 12 years for burglary, shop-breaking and conspiracy to rob when he escaped.

Deep Blast 'A Success'

ANCHITKA ISLAND, Alaska (AP)—A thermonuclear device packing the power of 80,000 tons of TNT was detonated far under the bleak, flat surface of Anchitka Friday in a shot scientists called "near perfect." The atomic shot, with four times the power of the nuclear bombs which devastated Hiroshima and Nagasaki to end the Second World War, was designed to test the United States' ability to distinguish between earth waves caused by natural seismic disturbances and those generated by underground atomic blasts. The U.S. invited all nations, including the Soviet Union, to record the earth waves generated by the shot and promised that all data compiled from the test would be made available on request. Col. Donald I. Prickett, test manager for the underground detonation, carrying the code name of Project Long Shot, was jubilant. "I don't think even an atom got out," Prickett said. "It was near perfect."

Seven Killed In Car Crash

ST. REMY D'AMHERST, Que. (CP)—The bodies of seven persons, killed about midnight Friday when their car went out of control near this community 10 miles northwest of Montreal, were recovered from the Massillon River early today. Dead are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pinard, 41 and 35, respectively, their four children, Anne, 10, Roselyne, 41, Normand, 18, Gilbert, 12, and a brother-in-law, Simon Allard, 37, all of Montreal.

Viet Nam War Gains Backing

NEW YORK (AP)—Thousands demonstrating support for U.S. policy in Viet Nam marched down Fifth Avenue today. The parade, led by five medal-of-honor winners, took the same route as a demonstration two weeks ago protesting American involvement in the Viet Nam war. The parade chairman, city councilman Matthew J. Troy Jr., estimated the number of marchers today would exceed 100,000.

Fifteen Israelis Killed In Battle

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters)—Fifteen Israeli soldiers were killed today in clashes with Jordanian forces in the Latroun district of Jordan 15 miles northwest of Jerusalem, a Jordanian military spokesman said. The spokesman said the Israelis opened small-arms fire from positions south of Beer Al-Melou and then advanced to besiege a Jordanian detachment. He said there were no Jordanian casualties in the three-hour battle.

Wilson Rejects Any Use of Force

FOUR SEPARATE ROAD CRASHES LEAVE TOTAL OF 26 KILLED

Twenty-six persons were killed in four separate high-way accidents Friday night and today. Eight persons were killed and three injured early today in an automobile crash in western Maryland. Six of the victims were male students of Mount St. Marys College, Emmansburg, Md. The other two were a man and his wife in another car. Police said one of the cars veered across the highway centre line into the path of the other. Near Carthage, Tex., six adults and three children were killed Friday night as two cars rammed together at a curve on U.S. Highway 59 and swiftly burned. At Pomona, Calif., five teenagers en route to a football game were killed Friday night when they were thrown out of a convertible that veered out of control and turned over, police said. At Stratton, Me., four men drowned Friday night when their car missed a curve and plunged upside down into six feet of water in a river.

Pearson Enters Rough 'n' Tumble

By THE CANADIAN PRESS Douglas commented in Victoria that the prime minister's comment was "unmatched for arrogance in Canadian constitutional history. . . . Liberal incompetence has not been matched by humility." Mr. Pearson hit back with a prepared statement saying the Conservatives and New Democrats don't stand a chance of getting a majority in the Commons. He promised his government will revise immigration laws and boost aid in education. After deliberately campaigning in a low key for weeks, Prime Minister Pearson found himself in the thick of rough-and-tumble political battling Friday. While students and Viet Nam "peaceniks" heckled and booed Mr. Pearson at two Vancouver rallies his opponents aimed long-range blasts at him for saying that another election will be inevitable in 1966 unless the Liberals win a majority Nov. 8. Conservative Leader Diefenbaker, whistle-stopping from Montreal to Truro, N.S., accused the prime minister of "threatening" the voters and showing "contemptuous disregard for the principles of democracy." "Bullying the Canadian people," charged Conservative Party President Dalton Kamp in Guelph. He called Mr. Pearson's remarks "an ultimatum." New Democratic Leader

Comment On "Selective Amnesia" Draws Chuckle From Truro Crowd

Mr. Pearson got a firecracker welcome from 1,000 in Chinatown and promised that the new immigration act will make clear that every Canadian is a first-class citizen. Back on the East Coast, Mr. Diefenbaker accused the prime minister of "selective amnesia," to the amusement of a crowd of 1,500 in Truro. Dief poked fun at Mr. Pearson for appearing to deny in Vancouver a tape-recorded statement he had made 12 hours earlier in Toronto. The prime minister said in an off-the-cuff remark in Toronto Thursday: "If we don't get a majority government, we're going to have another election in a year, in a year and a half, and who wants that?" Asked about this in Vancouver Thursday night, he snapped: "I said no such thing. I don't know where that report he had misunderstood a reporter's question 'in the excitement at Vancouver Airport.' 'I have been accused of being arrogant because I believe that, if the government does not get a majority on Nov. 8, there will be another election within a year or so.' 'I did not say that I would call that election. I did state and I repeat, my view that another election would be inevitable.' 'MAJORITY IS NEEDED' He said the Liberal government would be defeated in Parliament if it failed to get a majority. 'The facts are very simple. Even the leader of the official opposition has admitted that he cannot get a majority. . . . The (Gallup) poll proves that the NDP has no chance whatever of being the official opposition, let alone the government.'

RUTLAND MAY NOW HAVE TWO HALLOWE'ENS

Hobgoblins started snarling things up early in Rutland this year. But it all seems to be in favor of the trick-and-treat crowd, so adults have no recourse but to grin and bear what promises to be two Halloween's. It all began with the announcement in Victoria that Saturday would be a preferable time to celebrate the night of All Saints, which actually falls on Sunday, Oct. 31. Kelowna's Mayor R. F. Parkinson followed this suggestion and this city's residents are preparing for the big night tonight, Most of B.C. is also going along with the idea. But not Rutland. This community took a more conservative view. MASK WORN One Rutland resident who preferred to wear the mask of anonymity had this to say: "Sunday night is Halloween and Sunday night we'll celebrate it. That's what the

Rhodesia Accord Possible And No Excuse Now For UDI

SALISBURY (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson said today African nationalist leaders demand for Britain "to attempt to settle all Rhodesia's constitutional problems with a military invasion is out." "The door is open for agreement with the country's white-minority government of Prime Minister Ian Smith, Wilson said. "There now is no excuse" for a unilateral declaration of independence (UDI). The British prime minister made the statements at a press conference before he left by plane for Zambia for talks with that country's President, Kenneth Kaunda. Wilson spent a week talking with Smith as well as supporters and opponents of his government, including the British colony's African nationalist leaders. Wilson said he told the nationalist leaders his government believes that a black majority rule in Rhodesia cannot come today or tomorrow because of the "tragic and divided condition" of the country. Wilson also announced that the two governments had agreed on a royal commission of inquiry to examine the problem of the African country's independence. Both governments had made proposals for a commonwealth solution of the Rhodesian crisis. The white Rhodesians are under self-delusion if they think they could escape the consequences of any illegal action, he said, referring to the threat of a unilateral-independence declaration by Smith's white-minority government. "These consequences should not be underrated," Wilson said.

Prominent City Sportsman Bob Giordano, Dies Aged 35

Robert Ralph Giordano, 35, manager of the Kelowna Buckaroos junior hockey club for the past four seasons, died in Kelowna general hospital Saturday. He had been stricken with a brain hemorrhage Wednesday. Born in Natal, N.C., he received his early education there and moved to Kelowna with his family in 1938. He attended Kelowna senior high and then joined the Canadian Pacific Railway telecommunication branch in 1944. He served in the Trail and Vernon before returning to Kelowna in 1945. He married the former Edna Wilson, of New Westminster and they have four children, Janis, 7, Guyle, 3, Delyce, 2 and Darin, five months. Mr. Giordano is also survived by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Giordano, Kelowna, four brothers, Louis, Joe, Ray and Charles, all of Prince Rupert and two sisters, Mrs. Dave (Lily) Hower, Penticton and Mrs. Angelo (Mary) Rossi, Kelowna. Always active in sports, Mr. Giordano was a basketball referee, a statistician for the old senior hockey league in the Valley, he worked with the Kelowna Packers hockey team and had managed the junior team since its inception. He had been Kelowna agent for the Vancouver Sun since 1952. Day's Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements and the funeral will likely be held Monday from Immaculate Conception church.

Long-Feared Tragedy Hits Refugees Fleeing From Cuba

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Long-feared tragedy has struck the small-boat exodus of Cuban refugees fleeing their homeland. An exile reaching Key West Friday reported that four of his crew mates apparently drowned Oct. 21 after their 54-foot boat sank in the Florida Straits. The survivor, Mario Castellanos, 30, said he and Albino Alvarez, 32, floated on a raft three days without food or water before being picked up by Cuban fishermen. "Our raft started leaking," said Castellanos. "The four men apparently panicked and jumped into the water. There is no hope that they were saved."

Walkout Of India From UN Seen As Bid To Abort Talks

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—President Hector Pavez Reyes of Uruguay, said: "There is no basis for this claim. . . . Kashmir is disputed territory and not a constituent part of India." He added that this was still the case even though India had declined to hold the plebiscite on the state's future that she agreed to in 1949. RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)—Eight Indian troops were killed in new clashes along the cease-fire line, a government statement said today. No casualties on the Pakistan side were mentioned. Meanwhile, the Indian defence ministry in New Delhi said speaking, protest at Bhutto's mentioning the situation in Kashmir State. He said Kashmir is within India's domestic jurisdiction. Bhutto, in his letter to council

Fifty Reds Slain In Java Fight As Indonesian Civil War Rages

JAKARTA (Reuters)—Indonesian government troops killed 50 Communist youths in a battle following the discovery of the bodies of murdered Moslems, the army announced here today. It said Moslems who found the bodies Wednesday in a grave at Prambanan in central Java attempted to move them to a burial place. They found the area occupied by Pemuda Rakjat (Communist youth front) forces and called for military help. Observers said the battle was the most serious reported between government forces and Communists. Third Deputy Premier Chaerul Saleh today described the Indonesian situation as "civil war."

Canada Set To 'Fall Backward' As Clock Hands Change Tonight

According to the old axiom, much of Canada "falls backward" at 2 a.m. local time Sunday as daylight saving time is withdrawn and standard time returns. The rule of thumb by which many remember how to adjust their clocks twice yearly directs that "man springs forward and falls backward." In most provinces daylight time begins the last Sunday in April and ends the last Sunday in October. It isn't uniform, however. Alberta residents are forbidden by provincial law to use daylight time at all. Other areas remain on standard time through convenience or custom, and some which went to daylight time in April switched back nearly two months ago. Several communities in British Columbia's Peace River district remain on standard time to conform with Alberta, but other points will go back Sunday.

Rolling Stones Really Thrown

MONTREAL (CP)—The Rolling Stones, minus a drum, were bracing themselves today for rock 'n' roll performance in Ithaca, N.Y., tonight after a Montreal appearance that turned into an injury-ridden shambles. A total of 30 teen-agers were hurt, but none seriously, and the Stones themselves were shaken up in the outburst of hysteria among 9,000 fans here Friday night. Eight of the teen-agers required hospital treatment. The guitar-strumming bomb-masters lost their drum in the chaos that prevailed on-stage at the Montreal Forum following their rapid retreat before advancing hordes of screaming admirers. The Stones quit Montreal at top speed following the scream-fest.

NAMES IN NEWS

"We Must Be Tougher" In Dealings With U.S.

Finance Minister Gordon said Friday in Toronto, Canada should take a stiffer stand in trade negotiations with the United States. He told a group of University of Toronto students that "we still have to live with our friends in Washington, but that doesn't mean we shouldn't be just as tough as they are."

Former Maj.-Gen. Edwin A. Walker was awarded a $3,000,000 libel judgment Friday against the Associated Press and the New Orleans Times-Picayune Publishing Corporation in Shreveport, La. An all-male civil jury decided Walker was libelled in an AP account of his activities during the 1952 desegregation riots at the University of Mississippi.

Euro Pound, the expatriate American poet who broadcast for Fascist Italy during the Second World War, plans to return to his home in Rome to celebrate his 60th birthday Saturday with friends in Paris. It is his first visit to the French capital since he was released from a Washington mental hospital seven years ago. Pound was born Oct. 26, 1895, in Hailey, Idaho.

Governor-General Vanier, Canadian prior of the Order of St. John, Friday conferred the title Knight of Grace on John Errol Sydie of Edmonton. Mr. Sydie has been actively associated with St. John in Alberta for almost 15 years. He now is president of the St. John council in Alberta.

Industry Minister Drury said in Woodstock, Ont., Friday the Liberals are not trying to take credit for conceiving the U.S.-Canada auto pact agreement. It is not relevant who conceived it, he told a press conference. The important thing is who gave effect to it and who supported its implementation.

Foreign Minister L'Eng of Norway believes "all countries should be represented in the United Nations." He added in Oslo that "the question of the participation of the People's Republic of China Communist China becomes gradually more pressing."

Moscow Planners Still In Control

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's new economic czar said Friday that recent economic reforms giving factory bosses more power in no way restrict the influence of central planners. He stressed that although the Western press viewed the reforms as adaptations of some capitalist ideas, the real power remains in the hands of the state's central planners. Nikolai Baibakov was writing in Pravda, the Soviet Communist Party newspaper.

SAVE US FROM TORTURES OF U.D.I.

Prime Minister Wilson of Britain did not receive plaudits only from African Rhodesians when he toured Salisbury, above, a white Rhodesian girl held a sign urging the prime minister to do all he can to stop the avowed intention of the majority of white Rhodesians from forming a unilateral declaration of independence (UDI).

RCMP Commissioner McChesney Friday announced in Ottawa promotion of staff sergeants Les E. Rosberg, 45, Prince George, B.C. and Aubrey H. Butler, 50, North Battleford, Sask. to the rank of sub-inspector.

Prime Fritz Youssouf won a major victory Friday in New York in an invasion-of-privacy suit against the Columbia Broadcasting System when a judge refused to admit as evidence six books said to have been the basis for CBS telecasts about the assassination of the Mad Monk. Reputable Youssouf, 79, is seeking $1,500,000 in damages, claiming CBS invaded his privacy in two January, 1963, showings of the television play.

Warren Weese, an 18-year-old army private from Frankford, Ont., entered his 12th day of unconsciousness today in Ottawa, still on the seriously ill list at the national defense medical centre with sleeping sickness.

Three other candidates formerly were active Conservatives in Ottawa.

They are Douglas Jung (Vancouver Centre), former president of the Young Progressive Conservatives; Hal Jackman (Toronto Rosedale), executive assistant to Senator David Walker when he was works minister; and Maurice Allard (Sherbrooke), former MP and executive assistant to Leon Bacer, ex-Quebec leader for the Conservatives. Mr. Allard is an independent Conservative candidate this time.

Kenneth Banks, Conservative national secretary, is running in the Ottawa-area seat of Russell.

Hordes Of Backroom Boys On Prowl Around Hustling

OTTAWA (CP)—An unusually large number of backroom strategists are stumping the country as candidates in this election campaign.

Party organizers and officers and executive assistants to well-known Ottawa politicians have come out from behind their desks in droves to run for Parliament.

Progressive Conservative candidates fresh from the backrooms include the party president, Dalton Camp (Toronto Eglinton), his predecessor Egan Chambers (Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace) and former national director Richard Thrasher (Essex South).

The Liberals are running at least three executive assistants to ministers.

They are Transport Minister Pickersgill's aide, Alistair Fraser (Pictou); John Reid (Kenora-Bainy River), aide to former mines minister Benoit; and until his appointment to the Senate, and Northern Affairs Minister Laing's assistant, Jack Austin (Vancouver Kingsway).

HELPED GORDON
Martin O'Connell, one of the three "ghost writers" brought in to help Finance Minister Gordon with his controversial 1963 budget, is trying to capture Toronto Greenwood for the Liberals.

Mark MacGuigan, vice-president of the Toronto and District Liberal Association and a leading party "thinker," is running in Queens in his native Prince Edward Island.

On the Prairies, former Alberta Liberal leader Dave Hunter is candidate in Athabasca and Rudy Uick, former president of the Manitoba Farmers Union and provincial Liberal vice-president, is wooing voters in Marquette.

Two former strategists for Conservative Leader Diefenbaker are seeking office for the first time. They are special assistant and speech-writer Burton Richardson (Toronto Spadina) and campaign organizer George Hogan (York West).

New Democrats are running their party vice-president, David Lewis, in York South and immediate past president Mary Johnson in Kindersley. Erhart Regier, veteran organizer and former MP, is trying a comeback in Acoma West.

Alf Gileave, an influential NDP "thinker" and ex-president of the National Farmers Union, is running in Rosetown-Biggar.

The Social Credit party has its Ontario president, George Mallory, stumping Lincoln.

Fernand Bourret, president of Le Ralliement Creditiste and former executive assistant to the party leader, Real Caouette, is trying his luck in Montreal Hochelaga.

Flying Corps' Rays Recalled

LONDON (CP)—Memorials of Canada's First World War air aces are being revived in London this weekend as a group of Canadian veterans of the old Royal Flying Corps celebrate their squadron's 50th anniversary with a special reunion dinner.

At a nostalgic ceremony in Canada House Friday, Air Vice-Marshal C. M. Black Mike McEwen and four other First World War pilots of 28 Squadron heard the Canadian high commissioner, Lionel Chevrier, pay tribute to their record.

The Canadians will join British veterans of the squadron tonight for a celebration dinner.

WOULD YOU HAVE TURNED DOWN A $59-A-MONTH RAISE?

Six weeks ago, the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, representing nearly 100 truck drivers, warehousemen and barge operators in British American Oil's B.C. Marketing Division turned down the company's offer of three wage increases which, by next October, would amount to $59 a month. The men went on strike and were followed about a week later by members of the bargaining group at the company's Port Moody refinery.

B-A's "no-strike" package offer of 35 cents an hour over a 30-month period was substantially better than the B.C. Conciliation Board recommendation of 25 cents an hour over 24 months, and higher than the 4.5 per cent increase accepted by the O.C.A.W. in the United States, which amounts to 16 cents an hour over a 15-month period.

The O.C.A.W. members who turned down the B-A offer were already receiving an average wage of $464 a month, or 15.5 per cent above the average industrial wage in B.C. The B-A offer would have increased the average wage received by these men to $523 a month within a year.

JOB SECURITY AN ISSUE?

Since the strike began, the Union has been claiming that job security as related to automation is the major issue in the dispute. But is it? Although the petroleum industry employs the latest equipment and techniques in its effort to be efficient and competitive, these improvements have been adopted gradually, over the past quarter century. As a result, layoffs have been very rare in the oil industry. In fact, since 1958, only a few junior employees have been displaced in the company's B.C. distribution organization, and no one has been laid off at a B-A refinery since 1949.

IF THAT ISN'T JOB SECURITY, WHAT IS?

Juveniles Arraigned By Police

Seven Kelowna juveniles, from 12 to 15, admitted to a variety of charges in juvenile court on Sept. 25. The charges included breaking and entering, mischief, theft of autos, mischief and wilful damage. Three twelve year olds were charged with six charges of breaking and entering the Gorge elementary school Oct. 4, and wilful damage estimated at $1,500. One juvenile, who admitted breaking and entering the Gorge elementary school Oct. 4, was placed on probation with a curfew. A 12 year old was charged with theft under $50. He admitted to taking a book from a city supermarket, and was remanded for sentencing to Nov. 1. Two 15 year olds admitted breaking into Carter Motors at Valley Building a machine was set in motion which collected with supply shelves. The same three youths entered school district No. 23 main Sept. 30 from Sept. 30. They were remanded to Nov. 1 for sentencing.

New CPA Airline Schedules Increase Service To Kelowna

The new schedules announced by Canadian Pacific Airlines effective Oct. 31, will give Kelowna three flights a week to Vancouver instead of two, and four flights a week to Vancouver instead of three. Penitence will have the reverse. Flight four (DC8B) will leave Vancouver for Kelowna Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 8:30 a.m. arriving here at 9:45 a.m. and departing at 9:55 a.m. for Kelowna, arriving at 1:30 p.m. Flight three (same aircraft) will leave Kelowna for Vancouver via Kelowna, Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday at 2:30 p.m., arriving here at 4:15 p.m. leaving 15 minutes later and arriving Vancouver 5:40 p.m. Flight nine (DC3) will leave Kelowna for Vancouver, Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday at 10:45 a.m., arriving Vancouver 12:10 p.m. The same flight will leave Kelowna Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday at 10 a.m. for Vancouver via Penitence arriving at Vancouver 12:10 p.m. Flight 10 (DC3) will leave Vancouver for Kelowna Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday at 2:10 p.m. arriving here 3:30 p.m. (It goes on to Penitence, returning next morning to Kelowna on flight nine.) On Monday, Wednesday and Friday, Flight 10 leaves Vancouver for Kelowna via Penitence at 2:10 p.m., arriving in Kelowna at 3:30 p.m. (Leaves as flight nine after remaining here overnight.)

Community Chest Return Shows $20,000 Collected

The official total of donations to the Community Chest campaign is $20,000, but Mrs. Bertha Pearce, executive secretary for the Chest, said this figure could be quite a bit higher. "This figure," she said, "is based upon what I have had submitted to me. When the canvassers collect the money, they give it to the zone leader, who in turn gives it to me. One of the bad habits of some canvassers, is not handing in their donations promptly. When they make their rounds, there are many houses where they are asked to call back at the end of the month. Naturally, they don't wish to hand in their collections in bits and pieces, so they wait until the end of the month, so they can hand it in in one big chunk. In the meantime," she said, "I sit in my office thinking there is no money being collected. It would be a great help if the money was submitted the day after it was collected."

New Type Juice Extractor Under Test At Sun-Rype Plant

The Sun-Rype processing plant has installed an experimental apple-juice extractor, the only one of its kind on the North American continent. William Smith, production manager of the plant, said that although the machine has been in operation for approximately two weeks, they were still carrying out extensive tests with it. "We hope to have the tests completed in another two or three weeks," he said, "but until then, we do not wish to give out any information about the machine. Rather than give the facts out a little bit at a time, we wish to make one big release on it, and then have the machine open for viewing." He declined to give any details of the machine.

MUSICALLY SPEAKING With BETHEL STEELE

Thursday night, "Explorations in Art" as sponsored by the Kelowna Art Exhibit society and the National Film Board presented the third evening in the series. The panel made up of Zeiko Kujundzic, Muriel Dexter, and Douglas Elliot of Kelowna and Bruce Crawford of Sumnerland was concerned with "Regional Art."

I shall put the cart before the horse by quoting moderator Peter Lofa. "Mr. Jensen was unavoidably absent due to illness. . . in his summing up. . . regional art is purely a personal thing, affected by the artist's milieu. . ."

The artist, no matter what might be the opinions of the panel and audience as a whole, living and working in a particular surrounding or environment, completely sincere in what he is trying to say, cannot help but mirror his immediate influences. This was shown up by films on the life and work of Emily Carr and the Haida Indian Carvers, respectively. A third film entitled "In Search of Innocence" showed Vancouver artists Jack Shadbolt and Donald Jarvis at work along with activities of a group of young innocents in poetry, music and life's obvious transparencies.

I hope I will be forgiven if I am unable to pinpoint the exact source of the following Thursday evening remark. . . "to be innocent in the sophistry of our time is an anachronism," which statement cannot do anything but open up wide avenues of conjecture concerning the idea that the things of the intellect, of which painting and all forms of art are a part, are not necessarily representative of sophistication.

"Regionalism in art does not narrow the artist's outlook or confine his communication in a universal sense if he is honest and sincere in his statement." Both Bruce Crawford and Mrs. Dexter went on to say that. . . standards do not have much to do with the region in which the painter paints. The same situations for the painter can be found in any centre or region across the country, the continent, and I would venture to say, the world." Bruce Crawford also reminded us that. . . "art is the experience, and science the concept."

Mr. Elliot said "he did not believe there is anything such as regional art. . . that painters are influenced by others. . . that if regional art does exist its function lies only in its historical or educational influence. . . that the last thing showed us a group the epitome of self indulgence even though they were perfectly serious, and Kluge, Shadbolt and Jarvis made us see what was phony and what was truth."

Mr. Kujundzic said he believed that all art forms are regional. . . that fine painting is the outer expression of an inward awareness. . . that as a society we should be able to create an authentic way of life. . . anything else is phony."

Mr. Kujundzic went on to denigrate the "Sunday painter" and "a real love for art demands the original itself, not a substitute by films at a symposium such as this is."

Then we were away to the races. . . (so to speak). . . The first question embodied. . . "What does Mr. Kujundzic mean by a substitute for art?" . . . and the answer. . . "too many Sunday painters. . . support the 'real' artist, buy originals instead of prints, anything less is not good enough. . . and the artist of yesterday has nothing more than an academic value."

The panel was also requested to define the difference between the professional and the Sunday painter. . . with the answer. . . "got professional training" which led, eventually, to Mrs. Dexter's evaluation. . . that "the good artist transcends the region" with Mr. Kujundzic enlarging the theme with. . . "each person points his own way whether it is in literature, music or religion. . . and is a product of a milieu."

Canada's Political Illness Outlined by Socred Here

Hon. Fred Colburn, minister of public works for Alberta, told a gathering in the Kelowna Legion hall, Friday, Canada is suffering from political sickness, which has three basic symptoms.

"Mr. Colburn made the statement at a Social Credit rally in the hall, where he spoke with C. E. Emery, Social Credit candidate for the Okanagan-Boundary constituency in the Nov. 8 federal election.

"We have had an alarming number of federal elections," he said, "figuring out to five in eight years. This series of elections has produced both minority and majority governments, and the prime minister is now threatening another election next year, if we don't get a majority this time.

"Neither majority, nor minority governments, produced by a series of elections, have been stable enough to complete their term in office.

SECOND SYMPTOM

The minister said the second symptom was the degree to which the calling of the elections has been based on political expediency.

"The business of our nation should come first," he said. "Neither the people, nor the members of parliament, or the other parties wanted this election, and it would be blatant hypocrisy to suggest the government was prevented from doing its job.

"If our nation's business could not be conducted, why have we heard no mention of this during the campaign, telling of the policies the government was prevented from enacting?"

THIRD SYMPTOM

He listed the third symptom, the inability of Canada to elect a satisfactory government.

"There was a large majority in the government of John Diefenbaker," he said, "but since then, all governments have had a short life. A strong majority does not guarantee good government, but rather a strong majority is the reward of good government."

Mr. Colburn said the only difference between the Liberal party and the Progressive Conservative party, was that one is in power, and the other is out.

"We must have men in Ottawa," he said, "who will represent the voice of British Columbia."

Advance Poll At City Arena Serves Those Away On Nov. 8

An advanced poll for the Nov. 8 Federal election opened in the foyer of the Memorial Arena at 8 a.m. today, and by 11 a.m., 41 people had made their decision concerning who they think should be the future government of Canada.

Pat Moss, deputy returning officer for the Okanagan-Boundary constituency, said he felt the voting was going slowly, although he didn't know how busy an advanced poll should be.

HARD TO JUDGE

"It is very hard, at this time of year, to anticipate the number of people taking advantage of the advanced polls," he said, "as we are right in the middle of hunting season. We could anticipate a large number of people at the polls, and then at the last minute, most of them may go hunting."

"We had very few people until 10:30 a.m., but it is starting to pick up, and I think we will get a fairly good attendance."

The polling station in the arena is designed to serve all residents from the north boundary of the Okanagan-Boundary area, to Peachland. This includes Glenora, Rutland, Ok Mission, Kelowna, Westbank, and Peachland.

PENTICTON

In Penticton, the polling station is in the Community Art centre, Main Street, and services all parts of the Okanagan-Boundary from Peachland, south. This includes Sumnerland, Naramata, Kaledon, Cawston, Okanagan Falls, and Penticton.

In the Okanagan-Revelstoke area, there will be four polling stations, being set up in Armstrong, Vernon, Enderby, and Revelstoke.

VERNON

The Vernon polling station, which is in the IOOF hall at 3105 28th Street, services the areas north of the Okanagan-Boundary area, up to Armstrong. The boundary line runs east and west along the road at Reid's corner, east of Kelowna.

The other polling stations in the Okanagan-Revelstoke area will service their respective areas.

The polls in all areas will close tonight at 8 p.m., and will re-open Monday, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

No Injuries Seen In Two Car Crash

No injuries were reported from a two-car collision in the 700 block on Lawrence Ave., at 3:45 p.m., Friday.

RCMP said drivers were Mary Skublik, 1966 Buick Wildcat, and Wayne William White, 1964 Oldsmobile. Damage is estimated at $180.

John Kaye, 1787 Glenella Place, told police at 9:40 a.m. Friday, fishing equipment and pharmaceutical supplies to the value of $220 were taken from his car between 8 and 9 p.m. Oct. 27, while it was parked on the curling club lot.

Miss Ethel Wynne Dies In Vancouver

Miss Ethel "Mickey" Wynne, a long time businesswoman of the Kelowna area, died October 22 in Vancouver.

Miss Wynne came to Kelowna in 1925 from Mission, B.C., by hiking over the Hope-Princeton trail. She resided in Kelowna since that time.

In 1929 she operated a wood and general trucking business, hauling Okanagan fruit to the Cariboo.

Miss Wynne, with Miss Grace "Tiny" Angus, started Mickey's Taxi in 1938 and operated this business until 1959 when she retired.

Miss Wynne is survived by a brother in Mission, B.C., Miss Grace Angus and Miss Hilda Card of Kelowna, five nephews, three nieces, and two aunts in Nova Scotia.

Funeral service was held in Kelowna October 28, at Harrison Bros. Ltd. Chapel of the Chimes, Rev. Canon W. Garbutt officiating. Burial was in the Garden of Devotion, Lakeview Memorial Park.

Pathfinders Club Canvass Tonight

Forty members of a Rutland youth group, the Pathfinders club, will canvass the city of Kelowna tonight for food for Christmas hampers for the needy.

Dr. A. W. Drullit, director, will accompany the young people, who will collect between 6 to 7:30 p.m. Transportation will be provided by parents and counselors.

"Members, instead of going out for 'Trick or Treat' will ask for any canned or dried food, which will keep until Christmas," L. R. Krenzler, pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist church, said.

"Last year the youth group packed 40 hampers with food collected Halloween night. Names of needy families are supplied by social welfare and the Salvation Army."

Full House For Second Night Of Kelowna Little Theatre Play

The second performance of the Kelowna Little Theatre's comedy "Dear Charles" played to a full house in the community theatre Friday.

The final show is Saturday at 8:30 p.m. Thursday the audience totalled 350.

The three-act play is adapted from "Le Enfants d'Edouard" by Marc-Gilbert Sauvejon and Frederick Jackson. The time is the present.

Mrs. Margot McLaughlin played the lead role of a modern mother with three children. She had never married. She brought up her children to believe that "a four pound portrait" over the mantle was their father, "Dear Charles."

When she decides, for her children's sake, to take a husband she calls the three fathers of her three children, to her home. Which will she marry?

The dialogue is "modern", and amusing, and something different in the way of stage entertainment in Kelowna.

Anyone who can get tickets for Saturday's performance will be assured of a good evening's entertainment.

The play was directed by Mrs. Val Jones assisted by Ian Sisset. The parts of the three husbands were played by Ray Logie, a Pole, Alex Cobban, a Frenchman and Roy Lobb as an Englishman.

Postage Meter Stamp Sought To Publicize Centennial Fete

The Kelowna centennial celebrations committee passed a motion at the committee meeting in city council chambers Thursday, to go ahead with plans to make available postage meters in Kelowna, advertising Kelowna's centennial program.

R. K. (Bob) Gordon, coordinator of the visitor and convention committee of the chamber of commerce, said today the stamp will read "Kelowna is Celebrating Two Centennaries, 1866, 1967."

"The stamp machines have a three-quarters of an inch space beside the stamp, where advertising may be inserted."

The B.C. government announced recently they will be making use of this space in many machines, to advertise their centennial celebrations.

"We decided that if the government was advertising their centennial, we should advertise ours. We set to work at the meeting, and it was passed."

Mr. Gordon said the stamps will be sold to the users of the machines.

"We estimate the cost to be approximately $9, the price they will be sold for," he said. "We are not trying to make any profit, but simply to advertise Kelowna."

Mr. Gordon said the committee will contact the stamp meter company, requesting the stamps be made, and they will be distributed as soon as they are made available to the committee.

Huge Convention Announced For Lion's Club In Kelowna

The mid-year convention of the Lions Club, district 19, will be held in Kelowna in October, 1966, with 1,100 delegates expected to attend.

R. K. (Bob) Gordon, co-ordinator of the visitor and convention committee of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce, said today Kelowna's bid was accepted at the mid-year convention in Longview, Wash., Oct. 23.

Attending from Kelowna were Gordon Smith, Douglas Sutherland, Jim Apey, Otto Gretzinger, Stanley Burch and Don Johnston.

Mr. Smith and Mr. Sutherland will act as co-chairmen for the 1966 two-day convention here.

District 19 includes all of B.C., Washington state, parts of Idaho and the Yukon.

Pat Currell, Kelowna secretary, said the western division of the Canadian Amateur Ski association, will hold their annual meeting here in April, 1966. Some 100 delegates from Winnipeg west, are expected to attend.

Three Remanded By Magistrate

Edward R. Spencer, Esplanade Lake, pleaded not guilty in magistrate's court Friday, to a charge of contributing to juvenile delinquency. He was remanded to Nov. 8 for trial.

Charged with impaired driving, Basil Sande, Vancouver, pleaded not guilty and was remanded to Nov. 4 for trial.

Raymond William Bell, 1684 Pandory St., was charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident, and failing to stop at a stop sign. He was remanded to Nov. 8 for plan.

ONE FIRE CALL

The Kelowna Volunteer fire brigade answered a call at 10:15 p.m., Friday, to the 300 block on Queensway. A fire in a car seat was extinguished.

PETER'S PATTERN

with PETER MUNOZ

This is the toughest column I've had to write. And more so since it's a last contribution to this space. I had hoped to end on a much happier note but fate has willed otherwise.

Grief has its own unique way of unifying people. Today the entire district sporting community mourns the passing of Bob Gordon, as a friend and lifelong sportsman.

Bob has come to be practically synonymous with hockey and its operation in this area. He wasn't a big man physically, but his stature in the sport he loved was gigantic. Not just in his own immediate environs but far afield.

His efforts on behalf of hockey are acknowledged and admired by many in the higher echelons of the game. Men like Portland Buckaroos' manager Hal Laycoe and Western Hockey League president Al Leader, appreciated and admired Bob's drive and dedication.

When you have breakfast with someone almost daily for the past two years you can't help but become close to the individual. The character of the man is bound to come through. It's hard to accept the fact that suddenly he's gone. He had a deep interest and concern for people and he knew almost everyone in town.

He was a live wire. The kind of man who couldn't be still. He had to always be doing something. And he carried more than his share of worries. But he was a good husband and a fine father to his four youngsters.

A man with ideas invariably invites criticism or rebuke. But even his harshest critics concede Bob obtained results and most harbor admiration for his achievements.

Twenty-one years is a long time to spend as an employee of one firm. Bob joined Canadian Pacific Telephones when he was 14 and became one of the youngest operators on the line at that time. He was 16. He returned to Kelowna in 1944, to the town he loved. Born in Nial, he originally came here at an early age with his family.

He developed an early interest in sport and at one time was active as a basketball referee in these parts. . . and rated a good one. Bob's involvement in hockey began early in the fifties. He worked as an ex-officio capacity with the senior club here and became the league's statistician in 1954.

In 1957, he joined Jack O'Reilly, as manager of the Kelowna Packers and played a large role in the team's rise to fame in the 1957-58 season. The club went to the Allan Cup finals and later conducted a successful tour of the Soviet Union. He was with the Packers until their demise in 1960.

To O'Reilly it was a strange paradox. "He helped others with the club earlier, as much as he helped me, but he never received the credit. I couldn't have found a more able man in Canada, or elsewhere for that matter."

Jack maintains that if Bob had ever chosen to leave Kelowna he could have made it to the top in hockey. "He had a marked ability. He could have wound up in the NHL, but he had such a deep warm feeling for this community and preferred to stay. And in so doing he has contributed immensely to this area."

Don Culley and Blair Peters echoed O'Reilly's sentiments. Peters even recalled his first meeting with Bob, emphasized his dedication to the game. "His first words after introducing himself were, 'How much time goes into the records for a game misconduct?' Bob was OSHL statistician and Blair was a ref in the loop then."

Culley, coach of the Kelowna Buckaroos, said it's like losing a brother. They were that close. For three and a half years the two as a combination guided the Bucks and there was never a cross word between them. "We always said we'd never let the game interfere with our friendship," Culley said.

Bob became manager of the Buckaroos at the club's inception in 1961. Through his efforts in these first four seasons the club has always been a contender. And last season they enjoyed their most successful campaign, coming within a game of the B.C. title. Culley said Bob never jumped to a quick decision. He had the insight and faculty of being able to think things through.

"It won't be the same without him. It's going to be an awful gap to fill," Culley said. And O'Reilly officials feel the same way. Calls have come from throughout the circuit enquiring of his condition while he was fighting for his life. Although some have had hassles with him in league matters, they all respected him.

And the boys on the club. They will miss him. They went out to practice Thursday night but it was a subdued bunch. Culley said they went out to show the Bob and I didn't waste our time trying to meld them into a fine club.

Veteran Buckaroo Marcello Verna probably best summed up their feelings when he blurted out in the dressing room "what the heck are we going to do when we don't have Gio to fight with?" He was referring to the good-natured heater exchanged during the hockey season. These are the little things they remember.

The last I remember was Bob sitting at my typewriter after breakfast Wednesday morning. He typed out Bucks' lineup for Friday night's game at Penticton. It was another small detail in his demanding job as manager. He was making sure it got to George Stoll in Penticton in time for his program.

A man of motion has become still. But he has left his mark in the community. He too, like his friend, the late Augie Ciancone, will be remembered for his contribution.

Scoring, Punting Titles Contested in Last Games

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Larry Robinson, Martin Fabi, Tommy-Joe Coffey and Calgary Stampers could be the big winners when the Western Football League ends its regular season with two weekend games.

Then again, it could be Peter Kempf, Randy Kerbow, Hugh Campbell and Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

A number of individual winners as well as the WFL playoff structure will be decided when Saskatchewan Roughriders play Edmonton Eskimos Saturday and the Stampers play British Columbia Lions at Vancouver Sunday.

Among the more interesting duels will be Robinson of the Stampers against Kempf of B.C. for the scoring title. Fabi of the Roughriders against Kerbow of the Eskis for the punting title and Campbell of the Riders for the pass-receiving title.

Stampers in their game against the fourth-place Lions.

The Stampers win or tie, they will break a first-place tie with the Blue Bombers and leave Winnipeg to face Saskatchewan in the sudden-death semi-final.

If the Stampers lose, they relinquish first place to the Blue Bombers who have beaten them two of three in league play. Calgary then would miss the valuable first-round rest in the playoffs and be left in the showdown semi-final with Saskatchewan.

Calgary will have to shake off the discouraging effects of a bad beating in its last start, an injury that will sideline line-backer Wayne Harris and a twisted ankle that may slow fullback Lovell Coleman.

"Our protection for the passers was inadequate, we made far too many mistakes on pass coverage and our tackling was spotty at best," said coach Jerry Williams, who watched the Stampers clubbed 22-0 by Winnipeg Wednesday.

Williams could take heart from the fact the Lions have lost six of eight games, have Steve Shafer, Pat Claridge, Mack Burton, Bill Munsey, Sonny Homer, Dick Fouts and Tom Brown complaining of various ailments and coach Dave Skrien looking at the game as a sort of training period for 1966.

Robinson holds a seven-point lead in the scoring race over Kempf — but the Lion catches passes as a flanker as well as kicking and could make up ground fast.

The Kerbow-Fabi and Coffey-Campbell duels will both be in the Edmonton game.

Kerbow and Fabi are tied for the WFL punting lead with 100 yards apiece. Coffey has 75 receptions to Campbell's 71 and will move into the Eki's defensive backfield to put man-on-man coverage on Campbell.

Villemure Loses Shutout Cleveland Troupes Totems

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Vancouver Canucks came close to a shutout against San Francisco at Vancouver Friday night, but Al Nicholson weakened one past Gilles Villemure late in the third period for the Seals' single goal in a 3-1 Western Hockey League loss.

Meanwhile, in Seattle, the Totems lost an interlocking game with the Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League.

Bobby Kromm, a newcomer to the Western Hockey League coaching ranks, was very quiet after Seattle's 7-3 loss.

"Have you ever seen such a disgrace?" he said quietly after the game.

Ron Atwell and Joe Sura both scored twice for the Barons, who had 32 going into the final period. They collected four insurance markers in the third frame while the Totems were unable to get out of their end.

Playmaker Guyle Gilder assisted on both Seattle goals. Jim Powers kicked in the first goal for the Totems at 12:05 of the second period and Billit.

MacFarland got the second with only two seconds left in the middle stanza.

The other four Cleveland goals were scored by Bob Courty, Frank Glover and Keith McCree.

In Vancouver, Howie Hughes and Jack Evans gave the Canucks a 2-0 lead in the first period and Dave Duke added the third goal in the middle stanza.

Villemure, who turned back 22 attempts by the Seals, lost his shutout with less than a minute to play when veteran Al Nicholson connected for the San Francisco tally.

Two Seals picked up misadventures late in the game — a 35-minute misconduct by Gerry Odoewski and a game misconduct to Forbes Kennedy for swearing at referee Willie Papp. The referees weren't taking much from anyone — coach Bud Poole of San Francisco found himself sent off the bench late in the game for abusive language to a referee, and that carried an automatic $50 fine with it.

Rochester Drops Buffalo In American League Play

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) —

Rochester Americans, striking for four goals in the final period, overcame a 3-1 deficit Friday night and defeated Buffalo Bisons 5-3 in American Hockey League action.

Only the goaltending of Roy Edwards kept the Bisons in the game. Edwards stopped 43 Americans drives while Buffalo plunged to its fourth loss in as many outings.

Defenceman Larry Hillman, the Americans' leading point-getter in the first four games with a goal and five assists, assisted Friday night on four of Rochester's goals.

Mike Walton put the Americans on top at 12:34 of the opening period on a passout from behind the net by Red Armstrong. The Bisons struck back for a pair in the second period by Ed Van Impe and Alan Carson.

But the defending AHL champion Americans exploded in the final period. Armstrong, Bruce Horvath, Pete Stenkowski and Gerry Eames each scored once.

Ehman's goal kept alive his streak of scoring in all five Rochester games this season.

Hawks, Habs Battle For First Rangers, Bruins Fight For Last

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The National Hockey League season is only one week old today but already there is a battle going on for first place.

Barring the possibility of a tie, that battle will be settled tonight when Chicago Black Hawks visit Montreal Canadiens at the Forum.

Both teams have won three games in as many starts this year and are tied for the league leadership with six points apiece.

In other games today, Detroit Red Wings are in Toronto to meet the Maple Leafs and New York Rangers in Boston for a game with the Bruins.

The New York-Boston contest will also decide again barring a tie—which team will have last place to itself. Both Rangers and the Bruins have lost their two starts this year.

In Sunday's only scheduled game Montreal visits Detroit, where the Canadiens haven't won a game since Feb. 16, 1964. This represents a string of nine losses, including a 4-1 exhibition loss three weeks ago.

Hawks, Habs Battle For First Rangers, Bruins Fight For Last

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicago coach Billy Reay admitted that has been a big factor in the Hawks' success so far but added: "The way Canadians played in the first period against the All-Stars, it doesn't look as though any team will beat them."

Leafs will be out to see if their 2-1 decision over Boston Wednesday night was just a fluke or if they've really regained the scoring touch. Toronto went scoreless in their first two starts of the season.

Boston has called up goalie Bob Ring of Niagara Falls Flyers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League to back up Ed Johnston until the return of Gerry Cheevers, who suffered a knee injury in Wednesday's game.

Kimberley Troupes Hapless Warriors 8-4

ROSSLAND (CP) — Kimberley Dynamiters vaulted into a three-way deadlock for first place in the Western International Hockey League Friday night with an 8-4 victory over Rossland Warriors before 600 fans.

Wally Souter led the Kimberley attack with two goals while singles were picked up by Dick Vincent, Ken McTeer, Walt Pearson, Marcel Mongrain, Reo Toulzin and Bill Steenson.

Art Goodwin, Ernie Sever, Billy Martin and Bud Andrews replied for the Warriors.

The Dynamiters outshot the Warriors and displayed deadly shooting around the net.

Prairie Horses Trek Aim: Conquer East

TORONTO (CP) — The extent of the invasion of eastern Canada by horsemen from the Prairies is illustrated by Monday's featured seventh.

In this mile and one-sixteenth allowance test for three-year-olds and up, four of the six entrants are from the West.

Two of them, Already Dia and Mr. Brass, were considered among the best thoroughbreds in western Canada.

Already Dia, owned by P. G. Rock of Drumheller, Alta., was the best handicapped horse on the Prairies in 1964, winning six races and $17,010.

This season Already Dia won four races before boarding a train for the invasion of the East.

Mr. Brass, owned by J. O. Wolf of Edmonton, shocked eastern racing fans in his debut.

The four-year-old gelding raced head-and-head through the stretch with Victorian Era, regarded as one of the finest thoroughbreds in the East. He lost the decision by a neck.

Trainer Mike Colpo's most recent assignment for Mr. Brass was in the $50,000 Canadian championship where he finished sixth to George Roy, Jr.

Although Mr. Brass has been racing in Toronto most of this season he's a westerner, owned by the Herman Stock Farm. He won one race this season, last Aug. 31.

Immaculata Dons Burst Into Victory Column

An inspired Immaculata Dons football club won their first game in two years beating Penticton Golden Hawks 13-12 at Eki's Stadium Friday night.

Immaculata took to the field and within four plays Dons had a 7-0 lead. Runs of 25 yards and 11 yards by Mike Brow put the Dons on the one yard line. Quarterback Ian Whitehouse plunged over for the major score. Immaculata's convert attempt was good and the Dons led 7-0.

Dons second touchdowns came after a bad snap from center caused the Penticton kicker to lose the ball. Dons recovered the ball on Penticton's nine yard line. Rick Monaghan swept around left end and went into the end zone standing up. Murray Laag's conversion attempt was stopped short and Immaculata took a 13-0 lead into the dressing room at half time.

Penticton determined to get back into the game tried a short outside kick to start the second half. Dons recovered the kick and moved the ball deep into Hawks territory.

FUMBLE
Penticton's first score of the game came after a Rick Monaghan fumble on his own 35 yard line. Immaculata took over after a fourth down gamble failed to kick for Penticton. Mike Brow moved the ball five yards. Monaghan's fumble set the stage for a 25

Howie Young Opens Door For Return To Major Play

EDMONTON (CP) — "When you're ready, God sends you a sign," says Howie Young, a 26-year-old alcoholic who was once one of sport's big drawings.

"He sent me help one morning when I was lying in a drunk tank in downtown Los Angeles. I was lying there feeling like an empty beer bottle—something not worth anything to anybody. I never felt so low."

"I wasn't on that road—I was on death road."

Young, who fought his way to the top in the National Hockey League, then drank his way to near-oblivion. He has had a drink since May 4 and this is the longest period he has been sober since he was 16.

"I lost every job I ever had, in hockey or out, because I was a drunk. I lost my first job working for a landscaper, because I fell asleep on a pile of sod after an all-night drink."

"They kicked me out of the NHL because I couldn't stay sober. They never questioned my playing ability; it was my conduct outside the rink."

NHL President Clarence Campbell told Young, "You are the worst detriment to hockey that ever lived on a pair of skates."

With that knock against him, it's a wonder he remained in the NHL four seasons, three with Detroit Red Wings and one with Chicago Black Hawks.

But the explanation is simple. Despite his rambling behavior and a record 273 minutes in penalties in 1962-63, Young has talent and color, ingredients in great demand in any sport.

Handsome Howie, a native of Toronto, played junior hockey in Hamilton before turning pro with New Westminster of the Western League in 1958. He played four games there before being shipped to Chicomotul of the Quebec league, setting a league record of 180 minutes in penalties.

He was with Rochester of the American league in 1959-60 and played 33 games with Hershey the next season before being called up by Detroit. Red Wings sent him to Edmonton during the 1961-62 season and recalled him for 1962-63 after which he was sold to Chicago.

He left the NHL after 39 games in 1963-64 and has been in Los Angeles Blades of the WHL ever since.

Young's life has been recorded in books often in terms of drunken escapades than in points scored, but the fans, intrigued by the frequent stories of his exploits, flocked to see him in action.

APPEARED IN FILM "Sure, sure, I was a big drawing card," Young told a press conference here after the Blades had played San Francisco Seals in a training camp exhibition game at Red Deer, Alta. "But I'm not in Chicago anymore and they're still drawing record crowds."

Young, who packs a compact 180 pounds into his well-proportioned six-foot frame, got a shot at the NHL when he was hired for a bit part in Night of the Living Dead starring Frank Sinatra. But that, too, was something less than a smashing success and he wasn't invited back.

Along with jobs and thousands of dollars, drinking cost him his marriage. The road back began May 4 when a cocaine in the tank at the Los Angeles jail described Alcoholics Anonymous to the bleary-eyed Young. Where it will end is anyone's guess but Young's words suggest he isn't setting his sights too high.

"All I want is to stay sober. I've got my life back, baby," he says. "Maybe I'm all through as a hockey player. But that's immaterial. I was on death row—not a bad road—for 12 years. In my mind was the certainty that I would be either dead or insane by the time I reached 30. Now I know if I take that first drink I'll die or go crazy. One drink would sign my death warrant and I don't want to die, baby."

"I don't want to die."

Canadian Skier Still In Race

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters)—Roland Hillier, 39, of the U.S. won the men's slalom title at the world winter ski championships today.

Another American, Chuck Strawn, finished second with 20 points, one behind the winner.

Third was Italy's Bruno Zecchi with 24½ points. Andy Murdoch, 19, of Toronto, placed 20th to lead three other Canadians in the event.

LAWN BOWLERS FINISH YEAR WITH ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Kelowna Lawn Bowling Club wrapped up a successful year with their annual meeting Thursday night. The meeting attracted 53 members, about half of the total membership.

Major business on the agenda was tabling of a discussion on the new constitution and bylaws. A general meeting in the spring will be held to discuss this business. Highlight of the evening was the election of officers. Jim McPhail was elected president with Al Grassick being elected vice-president. Other officers are: Frank Myrns, secretary-treasurer and J. Kerr Campbell, auditors.

Six trophies were presented at the meeting to the top bowlers of the year.

A. E. Bostock walked off with the Whillies Cup for Men's Singles, while the ladies' singles trophy went to Gerie Gemmill. Team trophies went to H. McKinnon, Fred Carter and Alex Haig for men's triples; Ben Hoy, Fred Carter, Art Jantz and W. Moss for men's fours. Ladies' triple trophy was won by Grace Williams, Nancy Sutton and Gladys Smith, skip.

Shel Rose Bowl, trophy for mixed doubles was won by G. Fisher, W. Rodgers and A. Grassick, skip.

Alouettes Ottawa Match Gives Semi-Final Preview

Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats bring the Eastern Football Conference schedule to a close Sunday afternoon in Hamilton and most of the interest will probably centre on Don Sutherland.

Sutherland is waging a battle with Moe Racine of Ottawa Rough Riders for the EFC individual scoring championship. Second - place Ottawa plays third-place Montreal Alouettes in Ottawa today and with the four positions in the standings already decided, all that remains are the individual titles.

Racine leads the EFC scoring derby with 74 points and will be out to add to his six-point margin over Sutherland in today's game.

Sutherland, like Racine a place-kicker, will have a lot of catching up to do when the first-place Tirots take on the last-place Argos Sunday.

It's doubtful if Hamilton will be able to score enough touchdowns against Toronto to enable Sutherland to make up the difference on converts, so he will likely be going for field goals every time the opportunity arises.

South African Garry Player Cops Australian Open Title

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Garry Player, South Africa's wonderboy of golf, won the Australian Open Championship today by six strokes after posting another spectacular 62 in the third round and then finishing the 72-hole test with a 69 for an aggregate of 264.

Jack Nicklaus of Columbia, Ohio, who started the final day four strokes ahead of Player, zoomed to a 70 in the third round and then took a 71 in the fourth round over the flat Kooonga Course, where par is 73-36-73.

Frank Phillips of Australia registered 66-69 for his two rounds today and pulled into a tie with Nicklaus for second place at 270.

Player, already the U.S. Open champion and winner of two world titles in international competition this summer, started the day four strokes behind Nicklaus but got eagles on the first two holes of the morning round and was even. By the time they went to lunch, Player was four strokes ahead of the American.

The victory was worth $2,632 in Player. Nicklaus won $812.

Sheep Hunters Given Refund

Dr. J. Hatter, director of the Fish and Game Branch, announced that all hunters who purchased the $5.00 Mountain Sheep tag-licenses, and were not able to use them because of the hunting closure in Game Management Area 11, East Kootenays, may apply for a refund. Tag-licenses purchased for sheep hunting in areas other than Game Management Area 11 cannot be considered for a refund.

Requirements are for the applicant to return his uncancelled tag-licenses and request for refund to the Fish and Game Branch, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C. before December 31, 1965.

Jim Ferree At Top In San Jose Tourney

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Jim Ferree shot a five-under-par 61 Friday for the second-round lead in the $40,000 San Jose-Almaden Open golf tournament with a 34-hole total of 133.

Ferree, who shot a 66 on Thursday and was one stroke off the pace of Al Geiberger and Steve Oppermann, held a two-stroke lead over Charles Coody and Bob Vervey of South Africa, at the midway point.

Coody added a 69 to his 66 of Thursday for 135. Vervey, brother-in-law of U.S. Open champion Gary Player, had a 68.

Sharing a five-way tie at 137 were Don Massengale, who had a 69 over the Almaden Country Club course; Billy Martindale, Gary Bauer, and Larry Morrey, who had 67s, and Ken Still, who shot a 70.

Seventy-four golfers survived the 36-hole cut. It took 145 of better to stay in the tournament.

School Swimmers Head To Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia inter-school swim meet will be held Nov. 12 and 13.

Competition will be held in swimming, diving and synchronized swimming. Students from high schools from Vancouver and district will take part in the 15th annual affair.

Montreal, Toronto Vie For Rugby Title

MONTREAL (CP)—Toronto Saracens and Montreal Barbarians meet Saturday for the Eastern Canada rugby title.

It will be the first time the championship has been contested here.

Barbarians, Quebec Rugby League champs, and Saracens, Ontario champs, are both undefeated this season.

Interprovincial title play in this sport was inaugurated in 1963 when Barbarians took the Quebec title and moved on to Toronto to defeat Toronto Irish—Ontario finalists.

It will be Saracens' first crack at the championship. In 1964 Toronto Nomads won it by defeating the Quebec entry, Town of Mount Royal.

Quebec Footballers Name Junior Champs

MONTREAL (CP)—NDG Maple Leafs Friday night clinched the Quebec junior football championship for the fourth year in a row, coming out of a two-game total-points series with a 11-point lead over Eastern Chargers.

The two Montreal clubs battled to a 2-2 tie Friday night but NDG got the championship because of a 2-4 win against the Chargers in the first game last Friday.

The Maple Leafs now play the winner of a similar two-game contest between Ottawa Sooners and Eastview Golden Eagles.

Royals Downed 8-3 In WHL Fixture

CRANBROOK (CP)—Spokane Jets outlasted Cranbrook Royals to an 8-3 victory before 750 fans Friday night in a Western International Hockey League game.

Jim Chow and Felix LaVallee led Jets with two goals each. Buddy Bodman, John Kenny, Lorne Nadeau and Ron Bahr scored one each.

Cranbrook goals were scored by Lynn Beaton, Ron Huston and Gary Kilbark. Spokane goaltender Dave Cox stopped 18 shots. Cranbrook's Phil Headley stopped 42.

JOB TRAINING OPPORTUNITIES

BASIC LOGGING

(Sponsored by the Federal-Provincial Governments)

Training opportunities are offered to suitable applicants in a six weeks pre-apprenticeship course leading to employment and apprenticeship in the logging industry.

The training will be conducted at the B.C. Vocational School—Nanaimo where dormitory accommodation is available.

Courses run on a continuous basis with intake every two weeks. The first commences October 4th, 1965.

Educational grade standing is not a pre-requisite.

Trainees in the six weeks course will receive basic knowledge in various phases of the logging industry such as rigging, yarding and loading, both at the school and in a timber stand provided by the Forest Service which is equipped with portable spar tree and regular logging equipment.

The course offered by experienced logger instructors will provide instruction in the safe use of hand tools, wood species and uses, types of logging operations, use of wire rope, power saws, hand and audible signals, high lead rigging and other fundamentals. Basic fire suppression, slash burning and reforestation will be covered and emphasis will be applied to safety rules and practices.

Following the six weeks course, trainees will enter the industry as apprentices and will receive the basic salary paid to chokermen. ($2.87 per hour).

Applicants must be physically fit.

The Apprenticeship Branch, Department of Labour will pay all tuition fees, and a subsistence allowance will be provided plus one return transportation to the school from applicant's place of permanent residence. These to be paid on completion of the six weeks course.

For application forms apply immediately to:

Director of Apprenticeship and Industrial Training,
Department of Labour,

U.S. Set For "Copper Airlift" If Rhodesia Plumbs For UDI

LONDON (AP)—The London Evening Standard said the United States is ready to launch a massive copper airlift to save Zambia should the white government of Rhodesia declare swift independence and cut off Zambia's trade routes to the sea.

The Standard said in a front-page story by Tom Stacey: "The confidence with which Mr. (Prime Minister) Wilson is now threatening the Rhodesian government stems from his knowledge that the United States government is ready to launch a dramatic 'Rescue Zambia' operation if necessary."

"Rhodesia's ability to cut off Zambia's normal outlet for its copper by rail southwards through Rhodesia and the Port of Beira, in Portuguese Mozambique, is of course Mr. (Rhodesian Prime Minister) Ian Smith's trump card in the matter of economic sanctions against Rhodesia."

"The United States has been watching its prestige in Africa declining steadily over the past three years. . . . It regards the economic rescue of Zambia a golden opportunity to restore its reputation as a champion of black Africa."

"It is they (the Americans)—not the British—who have planned the airlift to which Mr. Wilson has referred; and it would be an airlift on a massive scale."

"The plan is to fly out a substantial proportion of Zambia's smelted copper, in its usual form of 200-pound wire bars from Ndola to Dar es Salaam, (Tanganyika) the nearest available seaport. . . ."

Hollywood Feast Burned Out

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Flames raced through movie sets at two Hollywood studios Friday night, driving 1,500 guests from tables at an outdoor banquet.

Film stars Steve McQueen, Elke Sommer, Martha Hyer and Rory Calhoun were among the diners who fled as the fire suddenly flared up at the end of a simulated western street. No one was injured.

Fire officials estimated damage at the two studios—Paramount and Desilu—at more than $200,000. The cause is unknown.

Delegates to the National Theatre Owners of America convention here were sitting down to a barbecue dinner on the set of a forthcoming Paramount Western when the flames erupted up at the fence separating Desilu from Paramount.

Pearson's Stand Backed By Church

TORONTO (CP)—The United Church of Canada Thursday sent a telegram to Prime Minister Pearson commending his government for supporting the British government in efforts "to peacefully resolve" the Rhodesian situation. The telegram was approved at a meeting of the church's international affairs committee.

DRUGS TOOK LIFE

The death of actress Marie McDonald, above, was caused by a mixture of drugs and could have been accidental or suicidal, the coroner's office said Friday. Miss McDonald, known theatrically as "the body," was found dead in her home Oct. 21. Dr. Kenneth Chapman, chief autopsy surgeon, said tests indicate death was due to "active drug intoxication due to multiple drugs."

Life Began "On Land..."

LONDON (AP)—Two British scientists presented a theory Thursday that life began in crevices on dry land rather than in the sea.

They said their work on the suspended animation of primitive organisms suggests their theory has advantages over the classic idea that the sea formed an "organic soup" giving rise to life.

Writing in the magazine New Scientist, professors Howard Hinton and M. S. Blum of Bristol University said the sea could provide only a very dilute soup, in which reactions between the complex molecules needed to form living systems would be much a matter of chance.

Much more concentrated conditions, they said, would be found in niches on land, which would be alternately wet and dry.

Railroads Need Equipment "To Keep Up With Economy"

ST. BONIFACE, Man. (CP)—Trade Minister Sharp says Canada's railways will need more equipment to keep up with the burgeoning tide of the expanding Canadian economy.

Mr. Sharp made the statement today while visiting a grain elevator here.

He said the railways have not kept up with the expanding economy of the country.

The minister said Canada was ahead in grain movement compared with the record of last year. He complimented the CPR and CNR in the movement of Russian and other wheat sales this year. The export target of 600,000,000 bushels by July 31, 1986 would be met.

"We have met every commitment to date and with the co-operation of everyone concerned will obtain the highest level of exports in history," Mr. Sharp said.

He warned, however, that delays and bottlenecks will occur from time to time because of the overall prosperity of the economy and extreme demands on the railways.

He said that if Canada is to supply all the needs of the world market and the railways are to move all of the other commodities, then the railways will need more equipment.

When the Liberal government took office in 1983, Canada's economy was in a state of stagnation and the railways could handle the grain shipments without difficulty. This, however, was no longer true, he said.

It is a sad fact that the only time the old line parties ever take any notice of the problems of British Columbia is when they want your vote. Once they get that vote, they turn their backs, forsake their promises, ignore your support and generally act as if Canada ended at the Rockies. We must put an end to this lopsided treatment and send to Ottawa, representatives who will fight for a fair deal for our province. The job can be done—elect your local Social Credit candidate.

Kelowna Safer, Better During Recent Beer Strike

Often we have heard the slogan, "buy now, pay later." Through it the sales of department stores have soared over and above the record set the previous year. However many a person didn't realize that through overbuying they were in severe financial difficulties. During the past week we were made aware that the liquor industry was setting records in our community. The recent "dry spell" which affected the major part of our province was over. Business was booming but little did many care of the tremendous price they were paying. I don't mean the monetary price that they paid in the hotel or liquor store but what they were doing to themselves.

One almost received the impression that our community had been deprived of its life blood. That people were dying of thirst but now everyone is happy and all is well. I cannot agree with this. I wonder whether our citizens were deprived of water during the "dry spell" because to my knowledge the best thirst quencher is water, plain H<sub>2</sub>O. Also water does not leave any after effects which alcoholic beverages do.

The Word of God which has been given to man by God, still serves as the guide given for us. The Word of God speaks out strongly against the use of alcoholic beverages. Many are the warnings given, many are the sad examples of men and women whose lives became a curse to themselves, and to others due to their indulgence in alcoholic beverages. In instances where wine was used it was not given with an intention toward drunkenness. We do notice though, that where individuals partook of it frequently that it became a habit and they were addicted to it. Also many a man who was a total abstainer was blessed by God and used and honored by Him. In Leviticus 10:10 we read: "Do not drink wine or strong drink, thou, nor thy sons with thee, when ye go into the tabernacle of the congregation, lest ye die: it shall be a statute for ever throughout your generations: And that ye may put difference between holy and unholy, between unclean and clean." Here is a warning by God, who is still very much concerned about every man even today. Also King Solomon who was known for his wisdom warns about strong drink; see Proverbs 20:1, 31: 4-7. Jesus also spoke out about overindulgence and drunkenness. When He performed the miracle at Cana in Galilee of changing water into wine, He did not make the wine for the wedding guests to become drunken, but rather to help the bridegroom out of an embarrassing situation and also to give evidence that He was the Son of God with power over the elements of nature.

We must also remember that because of the impurity of water in the days of Christ, wine was used as the common beverage. However today, water is no longer harmful and I am certain that Jesus would encourage men to abstain from wine. Let us heed the warnings of God, otherwise we will suffer while here on earth and also in eternity. I Corinthians 6:10, "nor drunkards, . . . shall inherit the Kingdom of God."

However this is not the only reason why I feel that we should avoid that which is detrimental to us, but I am also greatly concerned about the welfare of my fellow-citizen. Many have been pressured into that drink habit, social pressure, advertising pressures, etc. have made him indulge in alcoholic beverages. He began with that first drink, not realizing that it is habit-forming or that it has serious after effects. William B. Terhune, M.D., in a recent article in the Reader's Digest (June 1965) says that even the regular social drinker is one who is heading for trouble. I do not believe that there is one alcoholic among the millions of alcoholics that ever intended to become an alcoholic. Instead of him taking alcoholic beverages, alcoholic beverages took him and drug him down to the lowest pit that man can sink into. It all started with that first drink.

In my study I have a book written by Upton Sinclair, who was honored by the American Authors and received the Pulitzer Prize. The book is entitled "The Cup of Fury" in which he tells the dramatic story of the effects of alcohol on famous authors. He writes about individual friends, mentions their names, and what alcohol did to them. Among his friends is Jack London, an American novelist. Sinclair tells of London's habit to continue his drinking. "Then at the age of 40 he gave his last word on the subject of liquor by taking his own life." Here is the tragedy of a man who did "drink now, pay later." It is a terrible and frightful thing that so much of the talent and genius of our nation, of our community, has been lost or distorted by alcoholic poisoning. Yes, many a mind that could have added to the intellectual and moral tone of our world has been lost to humanity through the effects of alcohol. How did they begin their life of alcoholism? It all started with the first drink, many a first drink handed down by a father to his son.

What a tragedy! Be careful that your conscience may not trouble you endlessly as you see this same thing repeated in your own home. Mr. Sinclair also says: "Most of these, my friends, started with vision and courage, but in the end the example they gave us is of sickness of mind and soul."

Perhaps you may be thinking that I have gone to the extreme and that this doesn't happen here. Let's take an honest look around! Enter the homes where the father frequents the business establishments where liquor is sold. Think of the business establishments that went on the rocks due to alcoholism. Think of the children who have been deprived of food and clothing because mother or father spent part of their pay cheque on liquor. Think of the homes that are fatherless because liquor has been responsible for the breakdown of his morals, think of the bruises, the scars that have been left because a temper went out of control due to alcohol.

Think of those who lost their life, whose bodies were crippled—the answer? Alcohol! Go to the hospital after some "long weekend" and you will see the result of mangled bodies because someone's mind was not functioning clearly because alcohol had impaired his mind and slowed down his reactions but sped up the vehicle. Follow the shrieking siren to the scene of the accident and here too you will find the evidences of alcohol, here is the answer to that "one for the road" that is often laughed about! Yes here are some of the by-products of the liquor industry.

Many an alcoholic has found help through Alcoholics Anonymous. I am grateful for the work that is done. They have been instrumental in helping many persons but just think of all the harm that has been done, the usefulness of a man's best years gone! I would plead with you to take immediate stock of the situation and determine that liquor will not ruin or cripple you or bring any harm to your family. Not drinking is no easy passport to happiness, it is no automatic assurance of a good and happy and creative life. What it does do is to increase the odds enormously. I would go one step farther, for those of you who have not yet had their first drink—the wisdom and courage to say "no, thank you" is the only answer. There is no other safe stand to take than TOTAL ABSTINENCE.

Do you have a problem with alcohol? I don't think our city was suffering from the brewery strike. I thought it was a safer, a better, a quieter city. Our world would be a far better place without liquor than with it! If you have a problem with liquor, take your problem to God! Ask Him to help you so that your life may be an asset to our wonderful community, to your family and to yourself. Life is sacred! Life is given by God. We are responsible to Him for the body and soul that He has given to us! Commit your life to Him! He has promised to give help to us and He will keep His promise. Use your influence, your life, your mind for the betterment of our society rather than have it crippled by the use of alcohol. "Drink now, pay later" what a tremendous price many a man has paid because he was afraid to speak up against what he knew could harm him. As you have seen the misery and have understood the devastation caused by drink, stand up and voice your opinion. Don't be among those that are DRINKING NOW, AND PAYING DEARLY LATER.—Rev. John Wollenberg, Pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, Kelowna.

Quebec Newspapers View Events As They See Them

This is a selection of editorials on current topics, translated from the French language press of Canada.

Grande Le Voie de l'Est—Although the public usually considers the Canadian National Railways as a state-run enterprise, that's not the opinion of its president, Mr. Donald Gordon. It is, he says, a commercial enterprise which is administered in the same way as all other commercial enterprises in North America. It has to solve the same problems and overcome the same difficulties as any other. One of the encouraging prospects for the future, Mr. Gordon says, is the prospect of less, rather than more government control and of greater freedom of competition within the field of transport.

The CNR's position has changed a great deal since Mr. Gordon took over his responsibility. It would have changed even more if needed reforms had not been turned down. Its passenger service now is one of the best, as is its freight service which is its main source of revenue.

Certainly, as the CNR president says, we are often made to compare the Canadian National's efforts with the profits of the Canadian Pacific. This leads to unjust criticism. To understand the CNR's position well . . . one must turn to 1918, the year the enterprise was formed by the fusion of several companies, most of which were on the edge of bankruptcy. It was necessary to borrow and to pay interest on the loan, which, through the years, created a debt that the CNR has not been able to repay.

If its situation is analyzed today, taking into account only its revenues and expenses, one comes to the conclusion that the CNR is not unprofitable. The CNR is really on the road to progress, thanks to energetic and efficient policy. (Oct. 19).

Montreal La Presse—We should always have known it, but unhappily we tend to forget it: On this planet, water is the source of all life. It is necessary to visit certain foreign countries to find out that in this field Canada is one of the best-supplied and most privileged in the world. And what about Quebec, whose enormous territory bathes in almost 1,000,000 lakes?

For the first time in this (federal election) campaign—and perhaps for the first time in our political history—we are making an issue of possible talks with the United States about this precious natural resource which we have in such abundance. Our neighbors, who are starting to run short, are thinking about getting some from us. They would like it if some of our water resources were diverted into their area. Can this question be made the object of international agreements? In other countries and other continents less rich than our own, the problem has already been resolved in this way. But we also know that wars were caused or threatened—for example take Israel and the Arab nations—precisely because of a problem like this one.

Is it necessary to specify that the subject is extremely interesting to Montreal, as the water level of her port is largely determined by that of the Great Lakes, which are for the United States an enormous reservoir into which they are tempted to dip with cupped hands?

We believe the greatest care will have to be exercised when the time comes for talks with the United States on this subject. We must consider this resource in the same way as we consider our wheat, our forests, our gas and our mines in general. And especially, we must not repeat certain errors of the past which were really too costly.—Cyrille Pelletier (Oct. 19)

Ottawa La Presse—Premier Robert of Ontario agrees to duality within unity. He says he favors bilingualism and biculturalism. . . . He is of the opinion that French- and English-Canadians must be equal partners to make up a great nation. On the other hand, as a partisan of autonomy, he believes it is Ontario's business and not Quebec's to take care of the fate of Franco-Ontarians.

He is right all the way down the line. . . . But that is a legal opinion. The heart always has sentiments the mind does not understand. Sentimentally, the encroachment of one province on another simply for mutual aid is basically a natural reaction. Real Franco-Ontarians ask themselves what they would be without the aid of their Quebec compatriots, especially in the past and still today. Also, don't Anglo-Canadians in Quebec benefit, in one way or another, from support by the country's majority, and by that of the main province, Ontario? —Gerard Bernier (Oct. 19).

LOOKING BACK WITH OLD STAGER

Halloween Fun Aplenty In '15

By ART GRAY

Fifty years ago Halloween was an institution. A night upon which both young and old participated in high jinks that the old, at least, would not think of passing up on other occasions.

Nowadays, with fireworks banned, and with plumbing moved indoors, the whole thing has lost most of its zest, and all of its humor. There is no middle ground with the Halloween of today. It is reduced to the handing out of candies to little youngsters, garbed in various disguises, who go from door to door in their immediate neighborhood, with the cry of "Trick or Treat!" (and I am sure that many of them, if they ever failed to get the treat, would be at a loss to know what to do about the other extreme of hoodlums driving around doing malicious damage, often while under the influence of too much liquor. Actions devoid of any humor, and purely destructive.

But even that type of destructiveness was to be found in the "good old days," although it was at least mitigated by the number of pranks of a very humorous nature, and which were the principal topic of conversation on the day after Halloween, each one trying to outdo the others in telling of the funny, and most outrageous things that had happened.

RELATIVE MATTER

Humor, of course, like most things, is relative, and practical jokes especially. It is highly amusing to see someone's big gate hanging from the top spike on a telephone pole, except, of course, to the owner of the gate. I remember being told of one incident in which a group of quite husky youngsters, including sons of some prominent rural citizens, pushed over a considerable length of high wooden fencing, leaving it to a leading farmer.

The owner of the fence, which was in poor repair and a tempting target, raised quite a fuss about it. It would be wrong, however, to assume that all the participants were what we now would call juvenile delinquents. I can't speak for all of them, but at least one I know grew up to become a United Church minister, so you never can tell, can you?

A SORRY LOT

Parties and dances were a common feature of old time Halloween, with the favorite being a masquerade. Back in 1915 the Kelowna "Good Templars," as sober a lot of good solid citizens as one could imagine, held a fancy dress social in the old school building (now the armory) and it was a highly enjoyable and mystical evening. Entry to the hall was made through a dark narrow passage, where weird screams arose from the visitor, and the narrow passage itself swung and wobbled under one's feet. Clutching nervously at the rails to keep from falling through them, which promptly added to the terrors. Strange winds blew on their cheeks, and last but not least Mephistopheles himself sprang out and greeted the newcomer with a mighty blast.

The hall was decorated with mysterious signs and weird apparitions which gave out the mystic atmosphere of Halloween on every side. The fancy dress lent an especial charm to the scene, especially the weird white ghost and the scarlet Mephistopheles.

LONG DEBATE

After a long consultation together, the two judges of the costumes, Mayor J. W. Jones and Leslie V. Rogers, high school principal, awarded the first ladies' prize to Miss Jenny Stevens, who wore the fascinating garb of a milkmaid. The prize was a milkmaid act. The second prize, an electric iron, was gained by Miss F. Stickby, who was dressed as a Spanish dancer. The gentlemen's costumes were not so much in evidence, fewer men being in fancy attire. Mr. Swedger, who in everyday life was the genial CPR agent at the wharf at the foot of Bernard Ave., won the first prize, attired as a fat clown. Concealed in his costume were several motor horns, giving off a variety of noises when he leaned against anyone.

He was awarded a handsome watch, set as a prize. I. Pavle, as a Chinaman, won the second prize, a clock. "Mephistopheles" turned out to be R. Bouvette, while W. S. Bouvette wore the guise of the ghost. Other costumes of note were reported to be Miss McKenna as Britannia, Mrs. Varney as Red Riding Hood, Miss Hilda Ellis as a Southern girl and Miss Elsie Hunt as an infant.

Some may be surprised that an organization such as the Good Templars should be the society to hold "high jinks" in honor of Halloween, but in 1915 they were a strong organization. In these days any social affair that doesn't have a lot in operation in connection with any institutions they may hold is regarded a very dull affair indeed, but in 1915 John Bailey was taking a lot of hard work, and prohibition was just around the corner.

FIRECRACKERS NOW

Another feature of the old Halloween that has changed, is the use of fireworks. Today, ever paternalistic governments pass laws forbidding the sale of them. Halloween without firecrackers is like Christmas without holly and mistletoe. One of the reasons, of course, is that in the modern affluent society, youngsters have more money to spend, but more and more they are making thereby an overabundance of noise, and increasing the hazard of accidents.

Fifty years ago a siskel was important, a dime highly valued and "two bits" was riches indeed. Fireworks purchased with their money were more made to last, and as far as possible, any boy who wanted his fireworks by firing them all off ahead of Halloween would hardly dare ask for more.

If he did he would be sure to receive a strong lecture on his folly, or even a trip to the woodshed to have the severe punishment in way that he would remember more easily.

In those days there was a popular gadget that every boy would make for himself before Halloween. It was called a tick-tack, if I remember rightly, and was made by taking a large wooden spool, of the type used for coarse thread, cutting a notch in the raised ends of the spool, fastening a long cord and winding it around the centre. A long spike, or a smooth round piece of wood, would be put through the centre hole of the spool for it to roll on. On Halloween the great delight of the owner of one of these contraptions was to creep up to a window, place the tick-tack against the glass and pull the cord sharply. The result was a shattering noise that was guaranteed to make anyone jump a foot out of his or her chair, and to scream or use strong language, according to their gender. Next week: Hagan, the last chapter!

CANADA'S STORY

U.S. Almost Seized Canada From British

By BOB BOWMAN

It was a miracle that Canada was not captured by the U.S.A. in the early part of the American Revolutionary War. The American scheme of attack was clever. Once the St. Lawrence River was frozen, Britain would not be able to get fresh troops to Quebec and Montreal. So in September 1775, the U.S.A. began a double-pronged attack. General Benedict Arnold led one force across the wilds of Maine to Quebec City, where they arrived on Nov. 15. It was a remarkable feat.

While this was going on General Montgomery was leading another force in the direction of Montreal. He had strange instructions to "take possession of St. John, Montreal, and any parts of the country if practicable and that it will not be disagreeable to the Canadians."

It was disagreeable to the Canadians. Governor Carleton's forces were thinly spread trying to defend both Quebec and Montreal. The key to the defence of Montreal was the fort of St. John on the Richelieu River. It was bravely held by Major Charles Preston and a force of 600 men. Carleton knew that he had to get reinforcements to him quickly, and tried to cross the river at Longueuil on October 30, 1775. Most of the members of his force were farmers who wanted to get home and bring in their crops. They had little heart for fighting and many of them deserted. Carleton's attempted crossing was thrown back and St. John had to surrender on Nov. 3.

Montreal was then wide open and was occupied a few days later while Carleton just managed to escape down the river to Quebec. Although Montreal fell, Quebec withstood Arnold's siege until spring when British reinforcements came up the river, and the Americans had to retreat across the border.

OTHER EVENTS ON OCTOBER 20:
1773 Meeting at Montreal petitioned King for assembly.
1846 Great West Railway authorized Hamilton to Toronto.
1869 British government urged B.C. to join Confederation.
1917 Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges adopted minimum price system.
1929 Ontario voted to continue liquor control.
Nova Scotia voted to end prohibition and adopt liquor control.

Toastmistress Delegate Attends Regional Council No. 11 Meeting

Toastmistress Margaret West of the Kelowna Club attended the Regional Council No. 11 meeting in Vancouver this month and reported to the regular meeting on Wednesday, October 26th, which was held in the Aberdeen Room of the Royal Anne Hotel.

There were 21 members present and Fran Fausch, the club hostess, introduced Christine Talbot and Janet Harland as guests of the evening. Flo Hahood presented "You and Me" and "Method" as "Education Topic" emphasizing "Enthusiasm is the Key." Table Topics Mistress Gerrie Johnston chose "Better Regatta" as the topic in this category, and those participating around the table were June Carter, Kay Fanning, Lydie Strachan, Fran Fausch, Helen Kesteven and Una Hughes.

Margery Smith winner of the most award of the October 4 meeting presented this award to Barbara Jensen, winner and "Toastmistress" at this meeting. The Kelowna Club has been requested to participate at the January council meeting at hostesses and will design program covers, name tags and place mats. The theme for this winter meeting will be "The Senior Member".

The April council meeting will be held in Kelowna, B.C., on Saturday, April 16th, 1956. The next meeting of the Kelowna Toastmistress Club will be held at the Royal Anne Hotel in the Aberdeen Room, on Wednesday, November 3rd, when the main "Theme" will be "A Little Joke in a Lighter Vein", and the "Aim" will be "Keep in Good Humour".

The nominating committee will hold nomination of officers for the ensuing term at this meeting.

Austria still mints about 2,000,000 Maria Theresa silver dollars each year, for use in underdeveloped countries.

ANN LANDERS

A Bow To Girl Friends Who Teach Boys Manners

Dear Ann Landers: You've swamped, Sugar. A low bow to you two girls for teaching your vice for teenagers in the past boy friends the A.B.C.'s of every-day manners.

I hope other girls who read this will follow your example. A girl who is interested enough in a boy to do this for him pays him a high compliment—and she does him an enormous favor.

Dear Ann Landers: My mother-in-law gave us a painting for our anniversary. I know good and well that piece of junk has been in her basement for six years. It's a monstrosity that looks like a vacuum cleaner having its tentacles removed. When I opened the carton our four-year-old became frightened and began to cry.

I don't want to hang the ugly thing in our home. My husband says his mother will be terribly hurt if we don't hang it and he does not want to risk offending her.

Dear Love: I'll file your suggestion under "One of these Days." At the moment I'm soothe us with a picture she didn't want to hang in her own home. It was also cheap of her to send us something she had sitting around. What is your opinion? — LOVER OF ART, NOT GARBAGE

Dear Love: Thank your mother-in-law for the gift and tell her you will hang it when you and your husband agree on a "suitable place."

If you cannot agree on a suitable place you will, of course NEVER hang it.

Dear Ann Landers: Please help me figure something out. I am mystified. My brother married later in life than most men. The woman is a widow about 35 years old and she is a delightful, gracious person. But, Ann, she gets absolutely stoned on one drink. Is this possible? Nobody can figure it out.

When she arrived at our home Sunday for dinner she was charming itself—lovely, bright-eyed and bubbling over with witty conversation.

Then she had a cocktail—just one—and within 10 minutes she was drunk as a skunk. When dinner was announced she walked straight into the clothes closet.

A similar thing happened at my sister's house last week. We cannot figure out how a person can get so loaded on one cocktail. What do you make of it? — INQUIRING SISTERS

Dear Sisters: Often the person who gets plastered "all of a sudden" has had a head start somewhere else. However, some people cannot tolerate even one drink without falling on their faces—and your brother's wife may well be one of these.

More than a third of London's 78,471 road casualties in 1954 resulted from accidents at night, mostly on Saturday nights.

University Women's Club Discuss 1966 Conference

Twenty-six members of the Kelowna University Women's Club met recently at the home of Mrs. R. M. Wilson, Poplar Point. The president, Mrs. R. C. Dillabough, welcomed three new members, Mrs. K. E. Barnes, Mrs. L. D. Lowe, and Mrs. D. L. Oke.

Club members considered plans for the first Regional Inter-Provincial Conference of University Women's Clubs, to be held in Kelowna in 1966. The Kelowna Club will be hostess for all clubs in British Columbia and Alberta, and a large attendance is expected. Chairperson of the committee in charge of arrangements for the conference is Mrs. C. B. Holmes.

Mrs. E. H. Birdsall, vice-president, reported progress on the Directory of Social Services for Kelowna that is being organized by a committee under her direction. This will be an extensive list of community organizations, with the wide variety of services of all kinds that are offered in Kelowna, and in the surrounding district. Mrs. A. G. Barnes announced that plans for the Club's Christmas Party are developing well. This event is a highlight in the year's programs.

Speakers of the evening were Robert McLennan and Ian Greenwood, members of the City-Chamber Committee for Industrial Development. Mr. McLennan and Mr. Greenwood, both well known in business circles in Kelowna and the province, spoke on the provisions of the Industrial Development Act, and its implications for bringing new industries to the Okanagan. Following the lucid explanations of this rather involved Act by the speakers, club members asked numerous questions about its effects on local businesses. Mrs. F. E. McNair thanked the speakers for their interesting talks.

Cousin Of Queen Elizabeth To Wed Toronto Announcer

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto backyard with an outdoor bar, became the scene of the wedding of the new life for Bill Kemp and his fiancée, Lady Iris Mountbatten. "For years now, we've both lived in apartments," the Toronto-born actor-announcer said in an interview. "For me, it was a London flat in the west end, then apartments in New York and Toronto. Now I'm dying to get a place with a backyard."

After an unpublished week-long stay here, Lady Iris, daughter of the Marquess and Marchioness of Carisbrooke and a great-granddaughter of Queen Victoria, returned to New York Wednesday. Their engagement was announced Thursday.

"The exact date and location are not set yet but it will be a small home ceremony during the last week in November," said Mr. Kemp.

The twice-married cousin of Queen Elizabeth, now 45, and Mr. Kemp, 44, have known each other for about 12 years.

"My late wife and I became good friends when we all lived in New York," Mr. Kemp said. "When Helen died in 1963, Iris was a real godsend in taking care of things."

CLOSE TIE
Another close tie is through Lady Iris' son Robin, 7, and Mr. Kemp's 10-year-old daughter Sharon. Both Lady Iris' earlier marriage—to Major Hamilton J. O'Malley of the Irish Guards and a Memphis, Tenn., broker, Michael Bryan—ended in divorce.

"In New York, where it is so difficult to find friends, our two got along famously," Mr. Kemp said.

Robin is following the family tradition of attending an English preparatory school before entering Harrow. He will visit Toronto only during school holidays.

"I don't want anyone to get the impression that I'm marrying into money," said Mr. Kemp. "Iris has been very successful in public relations work in New York."

Mr. Kemp, the son of a retired boat manufacturer, also has been successful, as high-paid announcer with the CBC. He has played in musical comedies in London and in TV work in Toronto and New York.

Toronto, he said, will be his home base. His daughter is attending Bishop Strachan school here.

Meet The Teacher's Night Held By The Raymer Avenue PTA

The first PTA general meeting was held on Tuesday, Oct. 26 at the Raymer Avenue school and over 150 parents attended "Meet the Teachers" night.

There was a short business meeting and Mrs. Willem Walraven, the president of the PTA introduced the executive and classroom mothers.

The meeting voted to give the school $200 towards the price of a 16 mm projector from the PTA funds and the bottle drive for this project was a great success.

Mrs. Walraven introduced Mr. A. Craig the new principal of the Raymer Avenue School. Mr. Craig taught in the Northwest Territories for five years and he said he was very pleased to be in Kelowna.

All the teachers on the staff at the Raymer school were then introduced by Mr. Craig and the parents were invited to go to the classrooms and look at their children's books and talk with the teachers.

The attendance award in the form of a plaque was won by Mrs. Ashley's class, and refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Celebration Dinner Planned By Kelowna Soroptimist Club

Plans were completed for a special celebration dinner at the regular meeting of the Soroptimist Club of Kelowna held at the home of the president, Mrs. Phyllis Treen, with the newly elected president, Mrs. Sidney Pike, in the chair.

The dinner will be held on November 1 at 6:30 p.m. at the Capri Motor Hotel to celebrate Charter Night which took place in November, 1962. An invitation to the dinner has been extended to the Business and Professional Women's Club to attend the dinner and join in the celebration, and there will be a guest speaker.

Other plans were formed for many activities for the coming year before the meeting was concluded.

Rushes Attend Model Meeting Of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority

A model meeting, with rushes attending, was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Gerlinger on October 26 by the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

Among those attending were Mrs. Budge Winters, Mrs. Ruth Weider, Miss Dana Disney and Miss Sheila Davidson.

Mrs. Lloyd Smith gave a brief outline of the aims and purposes of the sorority, and it was announced that the By-law articles will be presented at the next meeting to be held at the home of Miss Sandra Smith on November 3.

AROUND TOWN

Don't forget to leave on your porch lights and have some tracks, tickets or pennies on hand for the small "trick and treaters" who will be knocking on your doors tonight.

Witches will be out tonight to join the members of the Kelowna Yacht Club and their out-of-town guests at the masquerade dance. Black cats and flying bats will haunt the ghost towns lining the back wall and the bar of the clubhouse. Dancing will take place to the music of the Commodores, and a witches brew will be served at midnight.

Leslie Orsi has gone all out on these spooky decorations, and Alex Taylor is convening the masquerade dance.

The Pathfinders Club, under the direction of Dr. A. W. N. Drutt and his group of councillors, will be around the Kelowna and Rutland districts this evening between 6 and 8 p.m. collecting cans of food and fruit to be given to the poor at Christmas time. They would like to thank the residents for their gifts in the past years, and ask that they have ready any kind of canned food they can spare when the Pathfinders call at their doors. The Pathfinders will be in uniform and wearing official collectors' ribbons. They will also have a treat for you.

Enjoying a golfing holiday on Kelowna's two excellent golf courses have been Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Cokerell of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, who were guests at the Mountain Shadows Country Club lodge while visiting friends in Kelowna.

when the old parties offer
"stable, majority government," they really mean
immovable government!

If they haven't already said so, the old parties are certainly going to ask you to vote for "stable, majority government."

That's one pitch they always make. "Let's have a stable, solid government in Ottawa."

Now—think about it for a moment. They've asked for stable government before. And what happened?

Governments that were so stable, they couldn't be budged!
That never seems to go anywhere. Immovable governments. Like trying to "persuade" an elephant to please move. We think that what this country needs is a little less so-called "Stable" government and a lot more energetic government. . . . A government that's not afraid to plan ahead and come to grips with problems. A government with initiative, that knows where it's going. That doesn't have to be told to do what it should be doing without being told. What do you think?

IMPORTANT!
Did you know that when a government just sits around and waits for emergencies to arise before acting, it always costs us the taxpayers, dearly!

It's pretty much like locking the barn door after the horse has bolted. We just can't figure out why the old party governments never seem to catch on.

Especially since we've been crying "Plan Ahead" for years!

Mud Room Boon To Mum Aid To Entire Family

"The room I couldn't do without." This is the way in which many a homemaker has described her sentiments about the mud room. Other homemakers have called it the most indispensable room and the room that does more than any other to save work.

What is the mud room? It's a bathroom or cleaning up room for the children often located near the rear entrance.

a sort of buffer room between outdoors and inside the home. Only it isn't just for the children. Dad appreciates it, too, after working in the yard or around the car. It's a room for the children to wash up and change their clothes before coming in after a hard day outdoors. That's when the mud room saves a lot of wear and tear and cleaning up.

The typical mud room has a wash basin, a water closet, and a cabinet type of shower, says the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating. It's a room that gets hard usage winter and summer. In the winter, it serves as a storage place for boots and rubbers as well as a cleaning up place. In the summer it is indispensable as a place to get rid of extra dirt from gardening or other outdoor activity.

CRISIS OF ANGUISH
A mud room has saved many a homemaker from cries of anguish by keeping her clean house clean. Variations on the mud room theme are many—it can be joined with the laundry or utility room—even the workshop. Because the floor is usually concrete or tile, little concern is given to the dirt that is tracked in—in fact, it's expected.

The institute advises persons planning construction of a new home to consider including a mud room in their plans. For those already owning a home, there are several ways to add the room.

It can be placed in one end of a garage, in a converted broom closet, in the basement with a special outside entrance, in a utility room or in an addition built onto the side or back of the house.

For those homeowners interested in adding a mud room, it would be wise to first consult a reliable plumbing contractor. His experience and professional know-how will enable him to plan the most practical and economical approach to installing this extra convenience. He can also assist you in choosing equipment which will best suit your family's needs.

HOME HINTS

MOVING REFRIGERATOR
QUESTION: We want to move our refrigerator to another wall in the kitchen where it will fit under some new cabinets being built. How can we do this without marring the tile floor which is fairly new?

ANSWER: A piece of old carpeting and two people are needed for the job. Work the carpeting, nap side down, under each leg of the refrigerator. By pulling on the carpeting, the refrigerator can be shifted with no damage to the floor.

FAIR WEATHER FOR TILING

QUESTION: Our son has given us up the asphalt tile for the floors in our kitchen and dining rooms. Must we wait for warmer weather for putting this down or can we start safely on the job now?

ANSWER: Asphalt tile can be put down at any time of the year. It is advisable, however, to have the temperature of the materials and the floor not much below 60 degrees in order to have the mastic cement spread more readily.

HELPFUL HINTS ABOUT YOUR HOME

PAGE 12 KELLOWNA DAILY COURIER, SAT., OCT. 30, 1965

Electricity A Great Home Help And Uses Likely To Increase

Electricity is the housewife's most obliging and versatile helper because it does so many things in a modern home. Plans for the electrical system should be complete from the outset. For instance, sufficient electrical outlets should be provided in every part of the house to take care not only of present needs but also of future requirements.

Each year electricity is called upon to do more jobs. Ten years from now it will undoubtedly have still further uses. There is therefore a definite need for planning the electrical system wisely. The main consideration in the planning stage is that every room or area in the house requiring electrical service is adequately equipped with the proper capacity carrying wires, outlets, fixtures and switches.

You have to remember the exterior too: front and back doors and attached garage will need electrical equipment. Extra outlets and switches can be provided at very little additional cost when they are included in the building contract. The main item to be considered is the service capacity provided for the whole house, which should be 100 amperes to be able to supply enough electrical power for all lighting needs, receptacles, furnace, washer, dryer, stove, hot water tank and other, smaller appliances without overloading the system. If the house is heated electrically, the service capacity must be increased over 100 amperes.

GENERAL RULE
The prospective homeowner should keep in mind that a single ceiling fixture will not give sufficient light for the basement, stairway, furnace and laundry areas and storage space. Every basement has its own lighting problems, but as a general rule, there should be an electrical fixture for every 300 square feet of basement floor area.

Bedrooms are required to have one lighting outlet, either in the ceiling or a wall receptacle, controlled by a wall-switch. There must be enough receptacles to ensure that no point along the usable floor line is more than six feet from an outlet. Kitchens must have at least one receptacle for appliances, at the counter top height. Laundry areas or rooms must also be provided with an appliance receptacle. An exterior light should be provided at every entrance to the house.

AROUND PEACHLAND AND DISTRICT

Fall Fair Group Repays "Starter" After Success

PEACHLAND — Gary Topham, from the new Peachland Fall Fair committee has handed council a cheque for $100, refunding the loan council had made them earlier to help the new fall fair committee get started.

Mr. Topham expressed appreciation at the council meeting and reported that the committee had a "very successful" fair and that they have $135 to start next year's fall fair with.

The clerk was instructed to write the committee conveying the council's regards and congratulating them on the fine job they had done.

Council was advised by the South Okanagan Health Unit that it might be that the anticipated grant from the federal government for the new municipal building might not be forthcoming, as it is the federal government policy to only give one grant towards one project and the municipality anticipated receiving federal assistance under the winter works program.

It was decided that as in some other municipalities the Municipal Office will be open Saturday, Nov. 6, and closed all day on Nov. 12.

Up to date expenditure figures were presented and the treasurer was asked to make such adjustments considered necessary in the amended budget and have ready for presentation at the next meeting.

The Clerk was instructed to take steps along the lines suggested by the department of municipal affairs for the purpose of acquiring certain pieces of land at present designated as roads.

It was decided to ask the Municipal Outside Employees to look after parking of municipal property on Hallowell and to approach the Peachland R.C. Dragons for assistance in controlling possible vandalism.

The Clerk was instructed to write the public utilities commission regarding the $1 per city being charged by the Okanagan Telephone Co. on rates which have been paid in advance.

The roads chairman, Councilor James Clements reported that new truck tires were needed and asked if quotations should be obtained from out-of-town dealers as well as local. Council asked that figures from local dealers be obtained. Mr. Clements presented figures for council's approval in regard to winter works project for straightening Princeton Ave. and the clerk was instructed to prepare the necessary applications.

Councilors Clements and Frank Schochthorn were to investigate the possibility of putting in more curbing on Beach Ave. in the vicinity of the municipal building.

A letter from Philip Shaw, surveyor, in regard to the survey carried out for the purpose of establishing the road from Somerset Ave. to Ellison Ave. was read. In view of the diff-culties being experienced the clerk was instructed to send copies of the correspondence to the office of the surveyor general for comment.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. MacPherson attended council to discuss domestic water charges for their motel as they intend staying open during the winter months. Council agreed that they pay water on two cabins in addition to their usual living accommodation.

Council was approached by the Department of Transport in regard to having the TV tower transferred to the name of the corporation. Clerk was asked to apply for the necessary transfer forms.

Trade license fees were discussed and consideration was given to amending the by-law to define more clearly what the requirements should be.

The problem which arises in regard to domestic water charges on rented houses, was discussed and the possibility of amending the by-law so the charges may be made against the owner was considered.

Oswald Vance was given permission to remove a small amount of top soil which had been left over from when the municipal lawn was planted, at a nominal charge providing that the site is left in a clean condition.

Canada's first fully-productive nuclear power station, at Douglas Point near Port Elgin, Ont., is scheduled for completion in 1958.

IDYLIC SETTING—AND THE FISH BITE TOO!

When you have an idyllic setting such as this one on Wood Lake, and the fish are biting, there's not much more a person can ask of life.

Despite the fact that winter is already on the way, Okanagan Valley fishermen are still at it with rod and reel and some successes have been reported. One west side resident reports catching fair-sized trout and some kokanee this week. But the catch is not always the most important thing. To the good fisherman, who just has to be a philosopher, the still waters, the clean air, and a general aura of contentment without the hustle and bustle of every day life in these times, these are the true rewards of a day's fishing expedition. And in this photo, Courier cameraman Kent Stevenson captures the mood.

Scripture—Judges 13:2-14:12

By Alfred J. Busscher

Samson was born to great ends. A Nazirite from the womb, he was born and reared in a godly home, to be destroyed by intemperance, passion and self-indulgence.—Judges 13:2-4.

Strong, valorous and endowed with the Spirit of the Lord, Samson could have proved a deliverer to his fellow Israelites had he not given into moral weaknesses.—Judges 13:25-14:1.

God took his power away from Samson drunkenly allowed Delilah to cut his hair, the symbol of both his strength and a life perfectly devoted to God.—Judges 16:4-22.

God grants Samson's prayer for strength to avenge himself. Samson dies with his enemies in the destruction of the temple.—Judges 16:23-31. Golden Text: Proverbs 16:32

Some Voices Sound Out On Clergy-Marriage Issue

Some voices are being raised in the Roman Catholic church questioning its long-time ban against marriage for its clergy.

Although Pope Paul has ruled out consideration of the matter at the second Vatican council, his action came in the midst of widening discussion of the subject in church circles.

Following his directive, a group of 51 Roman Catholic laymen, including psychiatrists, doctors, philosophers, sociologists and professors in 12 nations, urged a post-council study of the regulation. Their appeal was distributed to bishops in Rome.

Under the church's Canon 1073, priests are prohibited from marrying. The rule is not considered a dogma of faith but a means of discipline and dedication.

Up to the Middle Ages, practice varied both in the Eastern and Western branches of Christianity, with some clergy married and others celibate. This also was the picture at the time of the apostles.

But the restriction was made mandatory throughout Roman Catholicism's Latin or Western rite at the first and second Lateran councils in the 12th century, with few exceptions allowed to it since.

Some of these have occurred in recent times, when married Protestant clergymen have entered the Roman Catholic church and been admitted to the priesthood, as married men with families.

Similarly in the church's Eastern Rite, akin to Eastern Orthodoxy, there are numerous married priests.

But in the Western half of Christendom, Rome for centuries has insisted on its clergy remaining celibate.

This was regarded virtually as "the 11th commandment," an unalterable, unquestionable fact of church law, with open discussion of it impossible.

That reluctance has changed, many priests defend it stoutly as most conducive to an effective ministry and total consecration to God's work among men.

Others maintain that priests should be free to marry or not.

Decree Set On Bishops

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican ecumenical council decree "concerning the pastoral office of bishops in the church," promulgated today, outlines a reorganization of Roman Catholic Church government.

Its highlights:

Revised of bishops — Bishops from various parts of the world will meet in "a deliberative body" and act in the name of the entire Catholic episcopate.

This synod will meet according to rules set by the Pope.

Bishops and the holy see — The council desires that Roman Curia departments "be reorganized and better adapted to the needs of the times, regions and rites especially as regards their number, same competence and peculiar method of procedure, as well as the co-ordination of work among them."

The Vatican diplomatic corps should also be "more precisely determined." Members and advisers of these departments should "be more widely taken from various regions of the church."

Dioecesan bishops should also become members of the departments, and laymen's advice should be listened to "more attentively."

Bishops in their dioceses — They should teach the doctrine of the church, but they should seek out all men in their dioceses and promote dialogue, "deal lovingly with the separated brethren (Protestants) ... (and) have a place in their hearts for the non-baptized."

Nominations of bishops — To protect the freedom of the church, the council "desires that in future no more rights or privileges of election, nomination, presentation or designation for the office of bishop be granted civil authorities." The council asks that any nations having these rights or privileges by treaty or custom renounce them.

Diocesan boundaries — A revision of such boundaries should be "undertaken prudently as soon as possible." Some might have to be divided, others combined. Some episcopal sees might have to be changed in view of urban growth.

National bishops' conferences — The council feels these should become regular associations, or councils "in which the bishops of a given nation or territory jointly exercise their pastoral office." They should have permanent commissions and a secretariat. Decisions of the conferences should be approved by a two-thirds vote of participating prelates.

It Goes By Variety Of Names But Money Appeal Aids Many

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Most people call it the United Appeal; others, the United Fund. But whatever the annual appeal for money is called, it's people helping people.

For several weeks campaigns in aid of charitable and welfare agencies have been in progress in many Canadian centres. Many are drawing to a close or already have closed.

But almost universally across the land, campaign officials are optimistic this year's objectives will be reached, if not topped.

Only a few campaigns officially crossed pessimistic notes in a cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press and most of these claimed campaigns for the Nov. 8 federal election interfered with efforts to get canvassers.

A few areas in Ontario have given up United Appeal campaigns because experience of past years showed the public wouldn't support them.

North Bay, Sudbury, Kitchener and Waterloo have dropped the program, but the latter two cities now operate a federated charities drive starting early in March and running to May 1. This year's $223,000 goal was exceeded by $37,000 in pledges.

Here's a sampling of what's happening in other areas.

Winnipeg—Oct. 11-30. Objective $2,700,000 in which more than 50 per cent has been collected. Last year's $1,304,000 fell short by $12,000.

Brandon—Oct. 1-31, which probable extension: This year's $27,474 goal is $4,000 more than last and almost 60 per cent has been received. Last year's drive topped the goal by $1,600.

Regina—Sept. 20-Oct. 29. About 75 per cent of the $400,000 target has been reached. Last year this city, first to reach its objective in Canada, raised $467,000 compared with a $351,321 objective.

Calgary—Sept. 20-Oct. 29. With a few days' extension, a $1,224,000 objective has been more than half-reached. Last year's $1,088,000 goal was exceeded by $23,323.

Edmonton—Sept. 27-Oct. 30. So far more than 85 per cent of the $1,247,100 goal has been reached. Last year's $1,199,832 target was exceeded by $2,148.

Vancouver—Oct. 4-31. The $3,130,000 objective has passed the halfway point and the feeling is that the city may reach the $3,040,000 collected in 1964 toward the $3,125,000 target.

Victoria—Sept. 27-Oct. 29. Objective is $439,210 and more than half has been collected. Last year's $410,000 target was exceeded by $2,000 and officials say this year's drive may finish $20,000 short although the campaign will be extended into the third week of November.

Ottawa—Sept. 21-Nov. 2. Objective $1,475,000 with almost all of it raised. Last year's $1,375,000 target was exceeded by $30,000.

Toronto—Oct. 13-Nov. 15. Target $10,540,000 with almost half reached. Last year's $10,238,000 goal was exceeded by about $1,000.

DEBATE ISSUE

In the original series of articles, a Midwestern U.S. priest, writing under a pseudonym said:

"It is clear from the history of Christianity that Christ calls some priests to the celibate state. It is also clear that he calls some to the priesthood but not to celibacy."

"The church needs celibates, as past experience strongly indicates; but the church also needs married priests."

Meanwhile, in the Protestant camp, a Duke University theologian, Rev. Dr. James T. Cleland, has urged serious thinking about an unmarried Protestant clergy.

He said that for a married minister to do a "first-rate job" in his parish forces him to relegate his wife and family to a "second-rate place." An unmarried minister doesn't face such divided loyalties, he said, adding:

"I'm happily married, but my wife has had a rough time."

Banff Meet Reported On

Opinions on the Banff Conference will be the theme of messages given at the morning services at the United Church Kelowna, Sunday. The conference dealt with fresh consideration of what it means to be a Christian in personal life, on the job, and in the entire world.

Mrs. F. C. Williams will speak on the women's conference and Derek Crowther on the men's conference.

At 11 a.m. Mrs. C. E. Sladen and Harry Maddocks will give their opinions on the conference.

Others from First United who attended the women's conference were Mrs. M. E. King, Mrs. T. F. McWilliams, Mrs. M. J. Peters, Mrs. E. H. Birdsell, and Miss A. H. Dow.

and through searching philosophical inquiry. They seek freedom from the anguish of our human condition either through ascetical practices or profound meditation.

"Buddhism ... realizes the radical insufficiency of this changeable world. It teaches a way by which men ... may be able to attain to a state of perfect liberation, or at least, by their own efforts or through higher help, supreme illumination."

Other religions also try "to counter the restlessness of the human heart."

The Roman Catholic church "rejects nothing that is true and holy in these" and therefore exhorts Catholics to enter dialogue and collaboration with non-Christians.

ERTEMS MOSLEMS
The church esteems Moslems and notes they revere Christ as a prophet and honor Mary. As the council examines the "mystery of the church" it recalls the bond "that spiritually ties the people of the new covenant to Abraham's stock. The spiritual patrimony common to Christians and Jews is great; and many early Christian disciples who sprang from the Jewish people."

"True, the Jewish authorities pressed for the death of Christ; still, what happened in his passion cannot be charged against all the Jews ... At the time of the church's new people of God, the Jews should not be presented as rejected or accursed, as if this followed from the holy scriptures."

"Furthermore, in her rejection of every persecution against any man, the church, mindful of the patrimony she shares with the Jews and moved not by political reasons but by the gospel's spiritual love, desires to remove the obstacles of anti-Semitism, directed against Jews at any time and by anyone."

When will it Snow?

CONTEST RULES:

Why don't you see how good a weatherman you are? All you have to do is guess the month, date, hour and minute that the first measurable snow will fall. The closest estimate will win $30. Clip the advertisement with your estimate and deposit them at the stores listed here. In case of a tie, a draw will be held to determine the winner.

If you're a good weatherman you may...

WIN $30

The following Kelowna firms are making it worth your while to take a guess on the first measurable snow
